Roll 'em

"We don't always have to stay on campus for lunch!" explains Brian Jackson, Carlos Abreu and Kevin Crooks, as they sip their drinks from Kentucky Fried Chicken.

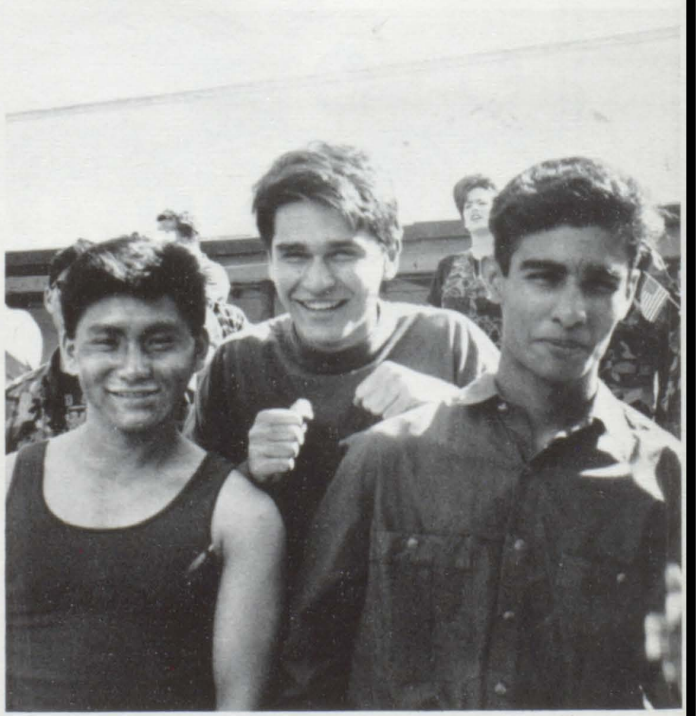
Steve Marchetti shakes his head in embarrassment, not believing that Kent Elola and Dave Leon are actually his buddies while they pose for the camera with absolute confidence.

Can you believe school started so soon? It seems like just yesterday we said farewell to Washington for the next two and a half months and jumped right into planning another fun-filled summer under the sun. The long, lazy days and cool twilight evenings were school-less, teacher-less, and best of all homework-less! It was a kid's time, time to do things otherwise impossible during the busy school year. Travel, relax, barbeque hot dogs, go to the drive-in, volleyball at the beach, go to bed late, and wake up even later! Though the familiar school bells ring once again, marking another year of challenges, the memories of beach-white sand, sun-tanned faces, and ice-cold drinks keep us anxiously awaiting for when summer vacation rolls around again. Some of Washington's students reminisce about what they did this summer.

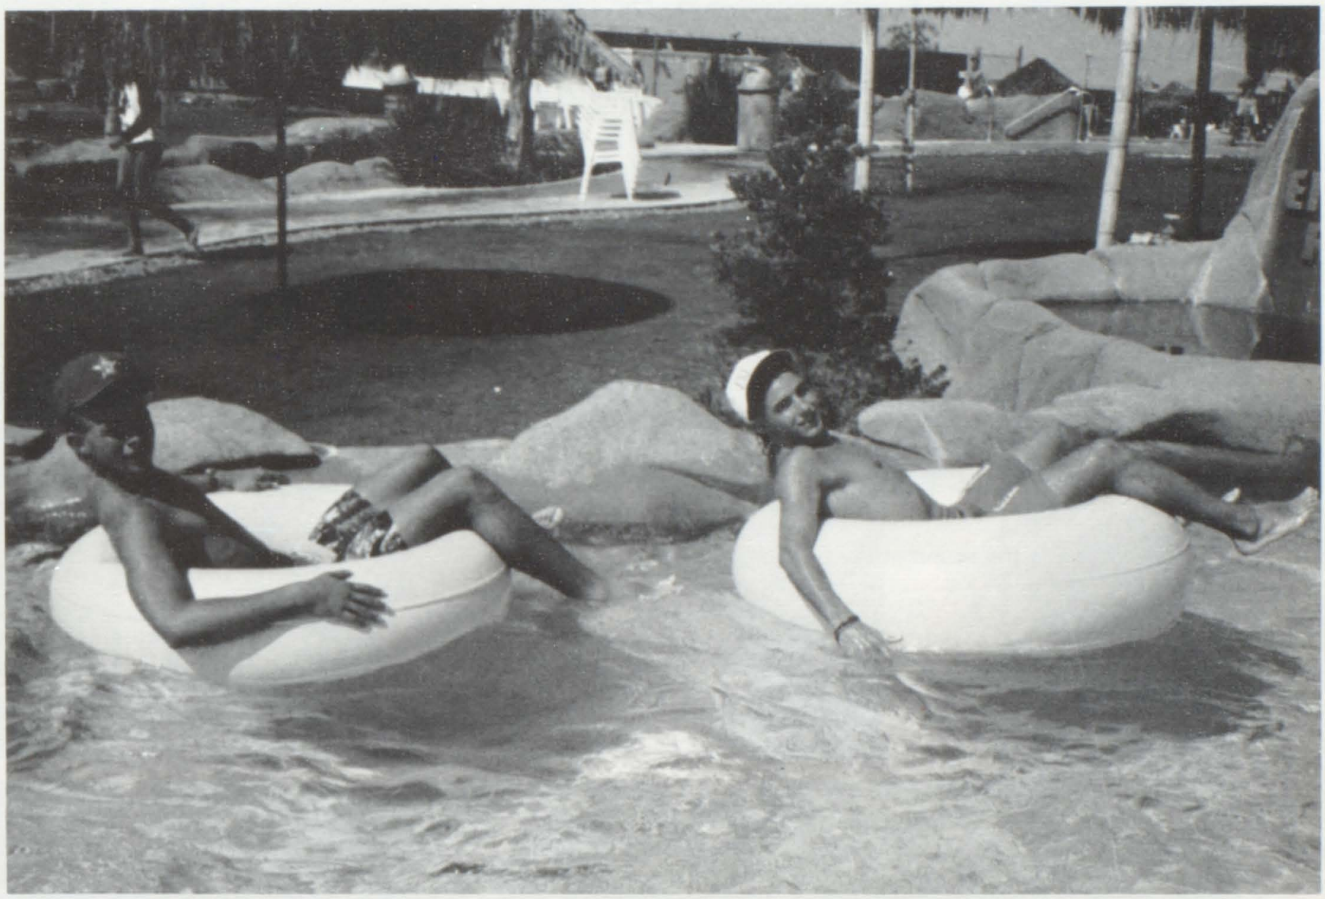
Warren Fitch- "I moved to California from Idaho this summer. I'm enjoying everything so far, but I do have one complaint. There is no snow here!"

Kari Tsujimoto-"We went to Canada where we were helicoptered to the Bugaboo Mountains. Soon after we arrived there was a snow blizzard so we had to wait a long while for the helicopter to come pick us up. It was real exciting and I got some good pictures of the glaciers."

Sonia Kimtosuki- "I went to visit Japan again this summer but this year's trip felt different compared to the past. I felt more like a native rather than a tourist. I went out with teenage cousins, skipped the usual sightseeing, and I even got to go to school with them. It was a great learning experience and I got to practice the Japanese I've been studying for over ten years."



John Troung, Massy Ghaussi, Vineet Soni show they're winning Senior Spirit on the popular army day.



Jason Wilson and Darren Booker soak up as much sun as possible as they drift lazily down the Endless River at the Senior Picnic.

"Look! They're taking a picture of us," says Kim Peterson to Ryan Chilton, who rather keep looking at Kim.

HULA HELLO DANCE

JUNIORS WELCOME HUSKIES BACK, WITH AN ALOHA!

Our return to Washington High this year wasn't greeted by the usual "WELCOME BACK", this year's juniors, THE CLASS OF '91, welcomed everyone with a big, warm ALOHA! The south gym was transformed into the tropics ready for the HULA HELLO DANCE of the year. Freshmans came to experience their first high school dance while the sophomores came to make up for missing it last year. The Juniors, of course, came to support their class. The SENIORS had to come enjoy their last chance to pull on their grass skirts for a final HULA!!

Though everyone had their reasons for attending, all left with a wonderful and bright outlook for the rest of the year. What an exciting KICK-OFF to get all HUSKIES, young and old, spirited. Thanks a lot CLASS OF '91!!! We're all natives now!!!

FRIENDS
Friendship never questions
you,
It doesn't have to ask.
It shows in what you say and do,
No matter what the task.

You cannot see it with your eye,
Or hold it in your hand.
Together we must work and try,
To keep life's simple plan.

A Man without a name shows us the way,
He teaches us what to do,
"Love one another every day,
as much as I love you."

When trials and troubles
challenge you,
And life seems so unfair.
Hand in hand we 'll see them through,
Together we can bear.

Over the years as we grow,
It may be put to the test.
It's truly up to us you know,
As friends we are the best.

GET INVOLVED!

This year, as Rep. Assembly president, I see them taking a more active role in student goverment. Their duties and responsibilities will go beyond games at lunch and reach into such things as helping prepare Washington for its first ever Red Ribbon Week Celebration to perhaps even community service.

I see Rep. Assembly as a voice from the student to student council. They will not only undertake their own projects, but will help the student body voice their concerns and then relay them to council so that our elected officers can perform effectively in governing the Student Body.

Moreover, I want the Rep. Assembly to develop a sense of pride and dignity so that they realize that they are a needed, functioning organization on our campus, and that they have the power to make a change here.

The Strike Of The Gavel

The gavel strikes. The meeting is called to order. An attendance sheet is passed around. Minutes and checks are reviewed and the officers wait patiently as the council meeting is already well underway.

Student council members take much dedication in their work. Not only do we each have our individual responsibilities, but we share the responsibilities of a team as well. All members of council show tremendous respect for one another and we share lasting ties. This effort and dedication has helped shape student council into a strong and unified team, and also a voice for the rest of the student body.

Student Council is not all work though. Many rewards lie in being a student council member. Student council organizes airbands, dances, rallies, and MVAL exchanges. Also you meet a lot of people you don't regularly get to meet. And finally, you get insight into most of the school activities so you never miss you. All in all, student council has really no setbacks. You have nothing to lose and everything to gain!

Alicia Rodriquez, Krisey Greene, and Dave McCoy regress at a typical student council meeting.

What's In A Name?

"An appointed officer . . . who is that and what does he or she do?" a curious student was asking.

Basically appointed officers are students who make up the Student Council. They were selected last year by this year's ASB Officers. Each officer is assigned to a job involving the school's activities. Together these students aim to get the student body active and involved.

"Getting involved" is the basic motto for these students. However, there's more to the name. You learn how to be serious and not serious at the same time. There's hard work but also a lot of fun and experience. When a couple of appointed officers were asked about Student Council, they said:

"I'm able to help out in making our school fun and interesting." — Anjali Saraf

"I get to play BABY IF YOU LOVE ME, YOU'LL SMILE." — Dennis Druckhammer

ADMINISTRATION

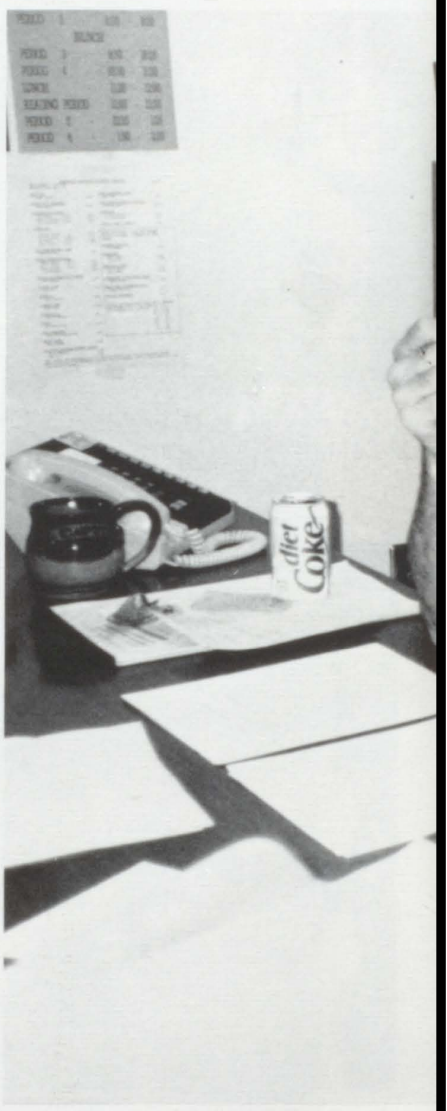
"Go, Huskies, Go!!", Exclaims Dr. Talken as he expresses his feeling about W.H.S.. The black and orange spirit will never fade.

PRODUCING ANOTHER GREAT YEAR

Washington High School would never be without these people. Who are these people? You see four of them daily around the campus with suits and friendly smiles. You see the other four when classes become more than just a burden. Summing it all up, they are the admirable administration and the caring counselors.

This year a new strategy was brought forth by the principal, Dr. Talken. The administration and counselors all work together in teams to handle both classes and disciplines. United, these teams are stronger and at their best in making the Huskies' community stable and pleasant.

Washington's positive atmosphere generates a spirit of success. With this spirit, the administration, the counselors, the faculty, and the student body will accomplish something unforgettable.



Senior Matt Nichols complains about stress. Mr. Stull seems to be saying, "Yeah . . . sure"

ACADEMICS & ELECTIVES

Husky Scholars

The bell rings and you walk groggily to your first period class. You take your place and don't remember anything until the harsh dinging of the dismissal bell wakes you out of an uncomfortable sleep. Your neck aches but you find your way to your second period class anyways. By third period, your stomach grumbles discontentedly as you think of a jelly filled doughnut, but your mind is beginning to function enough to remember that you forgot to review for the quiz this period . . .

Contrary to popular belief, High School is not just football games, dances, boyfriends and avoiding responsibility. For some it will be the final preparation before entering "the real world" and for others a prelude to extended academic stress at the college level. Washington has a proud academic tradition which provides it's students with confidence to face their futures, or at least with a vague idea of what to expect after graduation.

Besides the core classes, which endow us with basic skills like how to balance an algebraic equation, compute the velocity of a moving object or quote from Julius Caesar, Washington offers a variety of elective classes. You can enroll in anything from autoshop to drama, and in the process begin to define your personal interests and possible career goals. If you have trouble with this, we have wonderful counselors who are willing to provide you with guidance and a resource center in which you can research possible alternatives.

The teachers at Washington are dedicated to our success. They often sacrifice their own time to ensure that their students understand the material by offering extra help at lunchtime and after school. By taking advantage of these opportunities, we not only improve our grades, but begin to see our teachers as real people. Not all of them are ogres that delight in massacring us with impossible tests.

But the most important part of Washington is definitely the intelligent and highly motivated student body. We know that it is our dedication to academic excellence that has made Washington one of best in the MVAL, scholastically. Even if we do forget that occasional Geometry quiz.

These courses and programs allow students to test their business career interests and to get a head start on the business world.

Young Poet's Society

Shakespeare, Poe, Twain, Orwell, Steinbeck and Homer. All were battled this year as they are every year, trying to bring a learning tradition to Washington, and to keep it there. Authors, all different yet the same. BORING! Let's forget all the literature we've been having to read, review, learn and sometimes quote.

It's time for the beach, swimming, skiing and watching the Bundy's without worrying about school the next day.

But let's face it. This is every students dream, and we all know, learning this literature is something that must not be avoided. And we must give credit to the English Department. Who else would give us words like — thoust, cartilaginous, knout, sumptuary, and yttrium. All the tests, quizzes, essays, compositions, thesis, vocabulary, quotations, punctuation, and literature, they will last a life-time.

Comment-allez vous, . . . Gute-Morgen, . . . Felix Cumpleanos . . . Are you a bit thrown off by any of these words? Well, they are just a few of the many sayings you will hear coming out of the foreign language classrooms. To give students at Washington High School the opportunity to experience the speech, and cultures of other countries, French, German, and Spanish classes are offered. To make this learning possible we have five very skilled teachers. Mrs. O'Donnell, and Ms. Oitto teach French, Ms. Larsen teaches German, and Ms. Linnell, Mr. Kelly and once again Mrs. O'Donnell teach Spanish. Taking a foreign language class is a major requirement for getting into a four year college. It is also a wonderful skill to develop and will come in handy at many points in your life.

Another Successful Year!

To meet requirements in mathematics, math must be taken at least a minimum of two years. The Washington math department has many dedicated teachers to teach the students the easiest, simple math to the hardest of calculus. The Washington math department also dedicates themselves to the students to offer extra help before, during, and even after school.

Washington's math teachers sponsor many contests for the students. The CAML contest is open to all students interested in a challenge, FACE contest is offered for students who take algebra. For Geometry students, they have a chance to "strut their stuff", by designing a modern or traditional drawing.

At the end of the year, the staff offers Geometry and Algebra students to take the Golden State Examination.

Overall, Washington's math staff will continue to offer all the courses to fit all students.

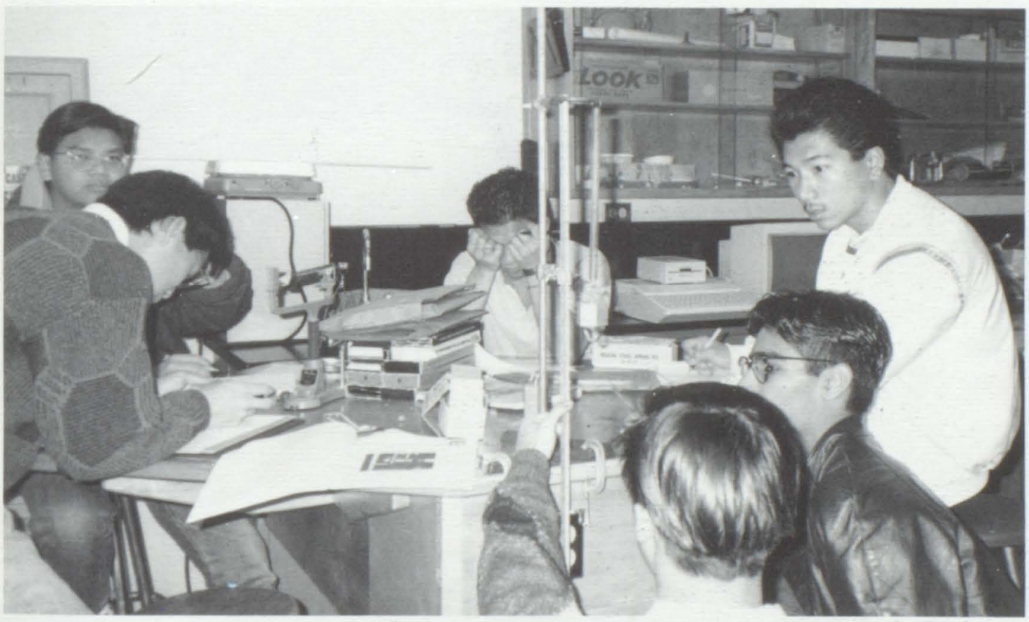
"Would you trust this smile of James Maes, to be your lab partner?"

In The Lab

The first word that comes to mind when asked about science is "LABS", no matter what course it may be, physical science, biology, chemistry, physiology, or physics, labs are an essential part of the class, whether it is mixing chemicals, dissecting frogs or measuring the velocity of mass, everyone enjoys labs because it is the actual application of what you learn.

Things to remember when you're in lab

1. Pick the smartest guy in class for your lab partner
2. Don't break the beakers (you break it, you buy it)
3. Don't sniff the chemicals
4. Remember to turn off the gas
5. Have your lab partner, clean your table



Physics is so hard it takes Nick K., Ken C., Bob P., Chaing C., Vineet S., and Robert K. to figure it out.

Learn Of The Past

Many students today find Social Studies to be a waste of their time as well as a waste of school books. What they don't understand is not only does Social Studies teach us about the past, present or how are government works; it also teaches us about the many incidents that have shaped our lives . . Without the AMERICAN GOVERNMENT classes we would never learn how a bill is passed or how a session of Congress is ran. Without WORLD HISTORY the rise and fall of the Ican Empire would be a forgotten memory. U.S. HISTORY gives us an insight to the men and women that shaped our nation. All scholars agree that the past repeats itself. So in order to learn of the future we must first learn of the past.

Getting Fit

Getting physically fit isn't an easy task. It takes a lot of determination and hard work. The Athletics department here at Washington demands the best from its' students and that's exactly what they get.

A variety of different choices were given to students ranging anywhere from football, taught by Mr. Ingram, to bowling with Mrs. Dean. Also available were sports such as softball, badminton, jazzercise, tennis, basketball, and many more.

Every six weeks students are given a chance to choose from several new activities and to change teachers. By doing so, they are able to participate in many different sports while meeting a lot of new people at the same time.

Although two years of P.E. is required for graduation, many people chose to take it as an elective. It provided a break in their tough schedules and was a great way to have some fun!

DRAMA DEPARTMENT

Cameras, Lights, Action

Students are frantically running around the stage, and a mutter is heard "Take your places everybody," as Mr. Burkhart struggles to get the students ready for their next major play. Scripts are being handed out, and some students can be seen memorizing and rehearsing their lines for their upcoming plays.

In Mr. Burkhart's class you can get a glimpse of how challenging theater can be, and how many times you have to go over the lines in order to perform well on the stage.

Everybody can imagine how difficult it might be to stand on the stage and act out a scene, pretending to be someone else, as your heart is pounding rapidly and sweat is trickling down your forehead.

In drama classes, students do a variety of different things including, practicing scenes, inventing radio shows, memorizing monologues, doing improvisation scenes and learning about the history of drama itself.

Most of the drama classes are small, but the students seem to get along with each other nicely, and they always work with each other as a team. In Mr. Burkhart's class students also learn to take responsibility and be dependable. Drama class is a learning experience in body movement. Working in drama is both fun and rewarding experience, because it teaches you to work with each other and make friends meanwhile.

A body is hanging from the ceiling, and an eagle swoops over your head. You just barely make it past the aliens and eyeballs that have decorated the walls for the past decade and, you are greeted by Mr. Ficken. There is nothing shy about this man. He will gladly take a picture of you if you show any notion of interest. Every student is kept busy while their cameras are clicking, and others are printing, and developing their pictures in the dark room. A small passage way leads to the dark room with an array of safety lights above on the ceiling. Students stand divided at their enlargers and print the pictures that make up that particular assignment that is due. Through two curtains students enter and leave the darkroom to check the contrast and focus on their pictures.

A portion of a 'staircase can be seen hoving above the chemicals leading to a place where no student has gone before-a storage space area. Students gather around the frog-painted desk that Mr. Ficken occupies and many cries are heard 11T-mas, Tri-x, Pan-x''. Everyone is buying film for their next camera problems, and asking Mr. Ficken for help. Photo class is a fun-filled class, that encourages students to do their best, and bring out the perfectionist in them.

The home economic/foods class provides an opportunity for students to become familiar with a wide variety of foods. This course emphasizes measuring, nutritional science, table service, simple meal preparation, wise money management, organization and care of the kitchen, as well as cooperation in accomplishing a task. Shops

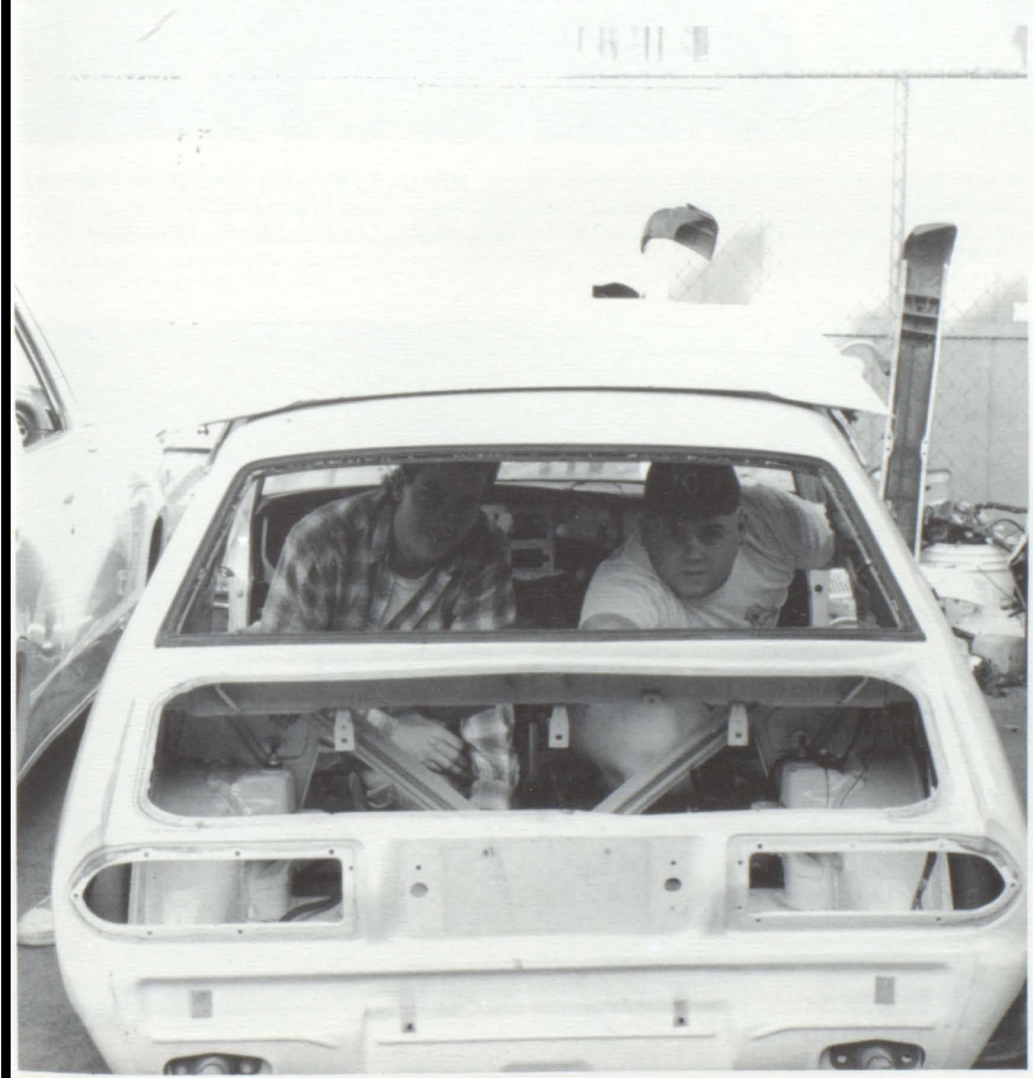
Have you ever needed to fix your car or maybe you've wanted to add on to add on to your already over crowded room so you can fit in some new furniture. These are just some of the many things you can learn to do in the Industrial Arts classes taught at Washington High School. Mr. Wheeler's Auto Shop class is one of the favorites. You can find students who just want to learn how to maintain their cars, to students planning on being mechanics. Mr. Soma has his hands full teaching Wood Shop and Metal Shop. His students build anything from a spoon rack to spoons to put in it. Drafting is also taught by Mr. Soma, and who knows maybe one of his students will end up drawing the plans to rebuild Washington High School.

"Better not mess with me. I've just been hired by Freddy Kreuger to make him some new razo-sharp gloves," warns Eric Owens.



"It may not look like much now, but when we get finished with it, it'll be able to go from 0 to 50 in two minutes flat!" boast Kevin Wigham and Darren Hiller.

Mr. Wheeler reluctantly cleans up the mess his students left behind.

What could Jeremy Montoya possibly be drafting? A Shopping Mall? A Sky Scraper? Or is it just his math homework he forgot to finish?

Tradition

Band is just like any other sport at Washington High School, except it doesn't require as much running around or sit-ups. Yet, being in the band does require a great amount of concentration, rhythm, and commitment. Speaking of comitment, the band often practices on their own time . . . including lunch. This is expecially common when a concert is nearing and they want to be their best. The band consists of drums, guitars, flutes, clarinets, saxs, and more! You have to be good to keep up with all of that! Mr. Mitchell is proud of his band, and for a good reason. Our band is special tradition at Washington High School that we should all be a special art of the Washington Husky Spirit!!

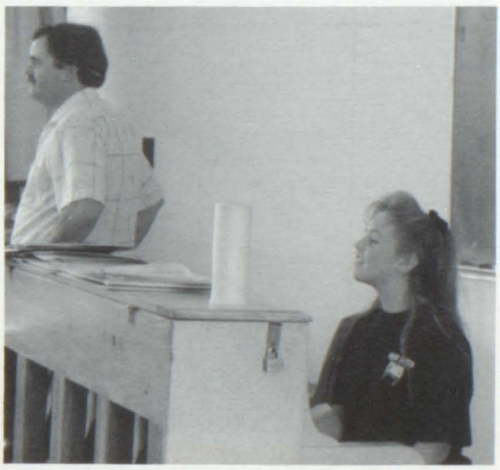
Do, Re, Mi . . .

Whether you are in beginning or advanced choir, you not only need a great voice, but a good attitude to do your best. The choir really seems to display this quality and seems to enjoy what they are doing. In this class, Everyone counts and every singer is important to the group. It takes time and talent to learn such a skill and do it so well. The choir practices hard to get themselves and their voices ready for their concerts. The choir is made up of both boys and girls, and the homework is easy. It can be done just about anywhere. Although choir requires many hours of hard, tiring, work, the benefits are well worth while because practice makes perfect! Even though a good voice is the best way to get involved in choir, it is not a requirement. All you need is to enjoy singing and by listening to our choir, you can tell that they do!



Karen Skubal shares her talent on the piano to help out the advanced choir in reaching those high notes as Mr. Mitchell listens.

Washingtonian

Although Yearbook is a fun class, it is also stressful when a deadline comes around. Everyone is in need of cameras, croppers, practice layouts, final layouts, copy sheets, and ideas. The week before a deadline is one of chaos. Photographers for Yearbook can be found running around campus taking last-minute pictures, while others are stuck in the classroom, thinking of ideas for their articles. Layouts have to be made and finalized, pictures taken and cropped, and articles written.

The stress falls the hardest on the editors, who are always in demand, trying desperately to help everyone make the deadline.

Time is spent at home finishing layouts and typing articles onto copy sheets. It takes a lot of time, patience, and effort to create a yearbook, but when it is completed, everyone feels a sense of accomplishment.

The Hatchet

This year marked the 71st anniversary of The Hatchet. Students in the Journalism class suffered through late Wednesday night doing paste-ups, once or twice staying past midnight in hopes of producing a quality newspaper for the Student Body of Washington.

Although it was impossible to cover all subjects that occurred during the course of this year, The Hatchet staff, led by Executive Editor Ken Miguel, tried to steer clear of trivial situations and focus on the source of the story.

The Journalism class has achieved one goal in particular this year. That goal was producing a bi-weekly paper that can compare to and outclass rival schools' newspapers.

With the guidance of advisor Ms. Wilson, the Journalism class has produced a high quality newspaper for the students of Washington High School.

EDITORS: Massy Ghausi, Joey Patel, Tricia Littau, Anjali Saraf, Marlene Rosa, Ken Miguel (executive editor)

Business Manager Anjali Saraf and Executive Editor Ken Miguel are busy working on an issue of The Hatchet.

Trying to think of a catchy title for their article are Chris Malysiak and Jeff Goyert.

Proud of a job well done, Crysta Cripe and Lisa Dennis read the latest issue of The Hatchet.

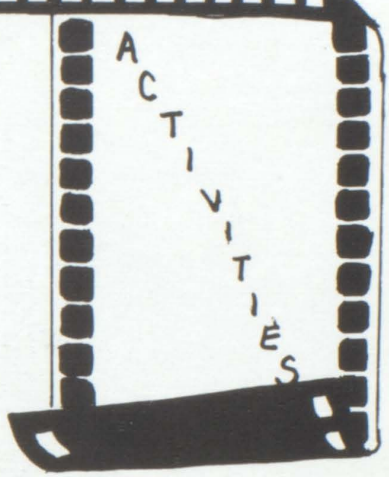
Activities

must go on



Husky Spirit

Many of Washington High students have discovered the other side of school. The most obvious purpose of school is to study and learn, yet the other side is the activities it provides. Students have found that these activities give them an opportunity to socialize, make new friends, and gives them school spirit which makes Washington the great school that it is. These extracurricular activities create that special atmosphere enabling the Huskies to be the best in the Mission Valley Athletic League in so many things.

The biggest activity of the year occurs during October, and takes an entire week, filled with all types of energetic events. It is known by all, as SPIRIT WEEK!! This activity involves the majority of the student body and gives everyone an opportunity to show their class spirit, and most importantly, their Husky Spirit! We have all learned that the more individuals involved, the more fun an activity will be. This is why spirit week is so exciting. It provides a great experience for people of all kinds of interests. The different classes work together, and by the time they become Seniors, they have created a strong, and supportive class. This is when they find out that they are not only classmates, but good friends. This is the purpose of the other side of school, the activities.

Monthly dances provide students an opportunity to strengthen newly made friendships outside of the normal everyday school routine. We begun the year with the Hula Hello Dance put on by the Junior Class. The Seniors invited 1989 graduates back with a chance to boogie down at the homecoming dance.

December brought an opportunity to dress up and travel to a winter wonderland at the annual Winter Ball. The Sophomore class turned the South Gym into an icy fantasy world. And the Freshman class dazzled us with the traditional girl-ask-the-guy, Sadie Hawkins. Many students made that special love connection at the February Valentine's dance put on by the Student Council.

Many lasting memories have been created during our lunchtime activities. Halloween brought on our annual Costume and Pumpkin Carving Contests. Mike Vineys danced his way to winning the Costume Contest with his interpretation of that famous 1970's hunk, John Travolta. Mrs. Kreb's and Mr. Springer's third period classes, dominated the pumpkin carving contest, winning a big bowl of Halloween candy.

Other lunchtime activities provided many messy, but fun games to not only participate in, but also to watch. Game shows as well as the prom fashion show gave students something to enjoy besides their food. Lunchtime Intramural games have also become quite popular. Third period classes battle it out in sports competitions such as Volleyball.

The key to all these activities is the student participation. Afterall, they are what make Washington a great school. Student involvement decides whether these activities become a success, or a failure. So get involved! And created some high school memories that will be remembered for the rest of your lives. This is the true HUSKY SPIRIT.

Drama Productions

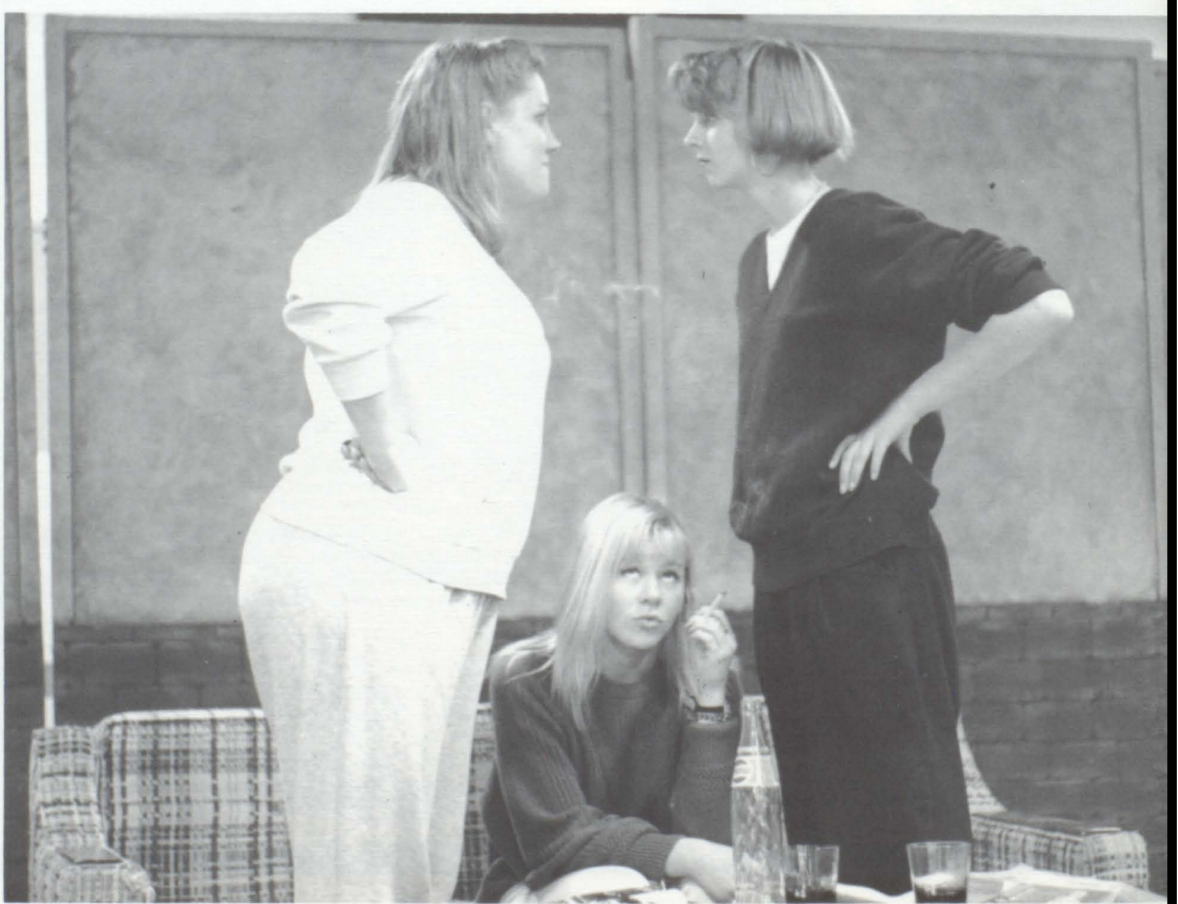
Looking cool, Anna Choi, begins the brutal beating of her pet cat.

Glad we don't have clowns like this attending Washington High. Woops! We do. It's Mike Hauply!



Laura Marcussen casually tries to stay out of the fight between Sam Duhtler and Meridith Pesek.

"Oh shoot! What's my next line?" thinks Grace Melanio.

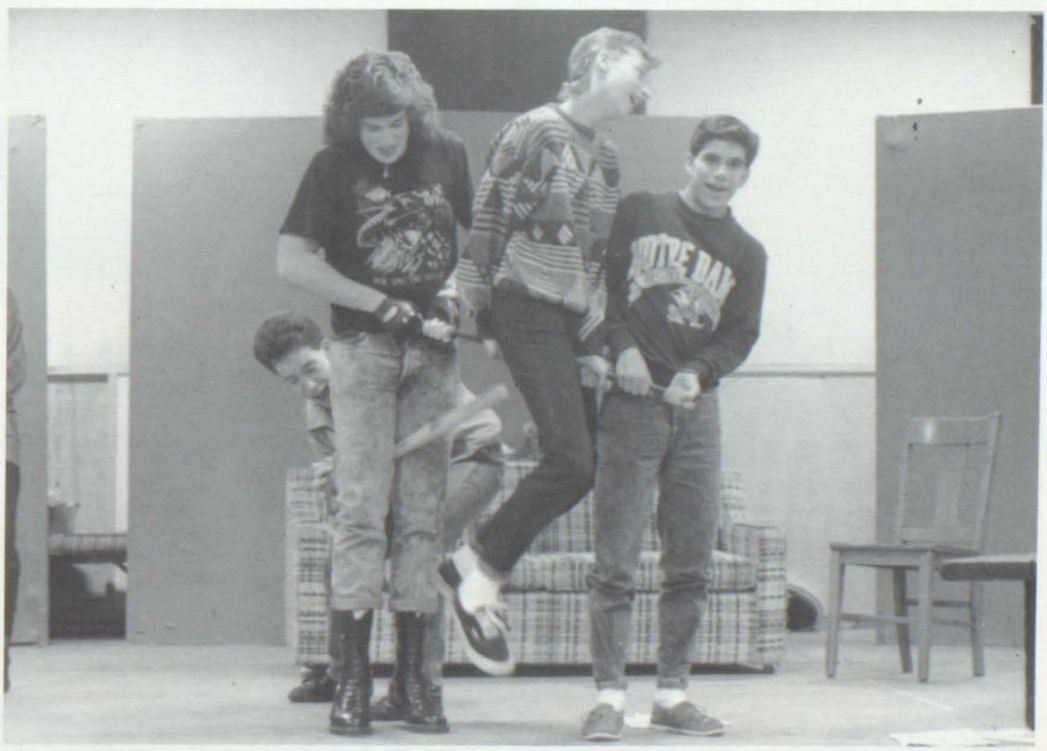
Lights, Camera, Action!

The art of writing, acting out, and producing plays is just a short description of what takes place in the making of a drama production. Drama productions are important because students need the chance to express themselves and gain the experience of being on stage in front of a group of people. They allow you to be someone you're not and at the same time provide a good form of entertainment for others. Being able to watch a live presentation in which the audience, too, can participate, can often be much more interesting than just sitting in front of a screen. The following are some of the drama productions our school has put on this past year. "Night Under the Stars", a compilation of one acts and monologues, was put on during the Winter season: "Who's on First?", starring Liz Webb and Sam Duhtler; "Audition," starring Anna Choi; "Oedipus and the Sphinx", starring Renae Yandt and Brian Abascal; "Laundry and Bourbon", starring Meredith Pesek, Laura Marcussen, and Sam Duhtler; and much more.

Washington High School also played a part in being the Host school for the Drama Festival put on at Kennedy High School, where they acted out, "Goodbye to the Clown". These such productions have given people the opportunity to see how well-rounded and talented our students are, while bringing them enjoyment through the art of theater.

Playing the wicked parents of "Hansel and Gretel" Martha Rodriguez cooks up a stew for Brent Wilkinson.

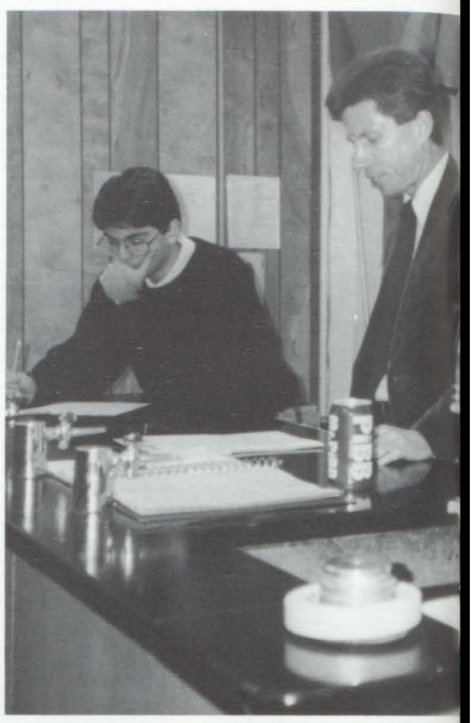
In the middle of her monologue, talented Kris Johnson, holds on tight to a broomstick for security.



Mike Hauply obviously isn't putting her foot down to this one, as Brent Wilkinson And Peter Esquierdo attempt to hold him up.

BRAIN

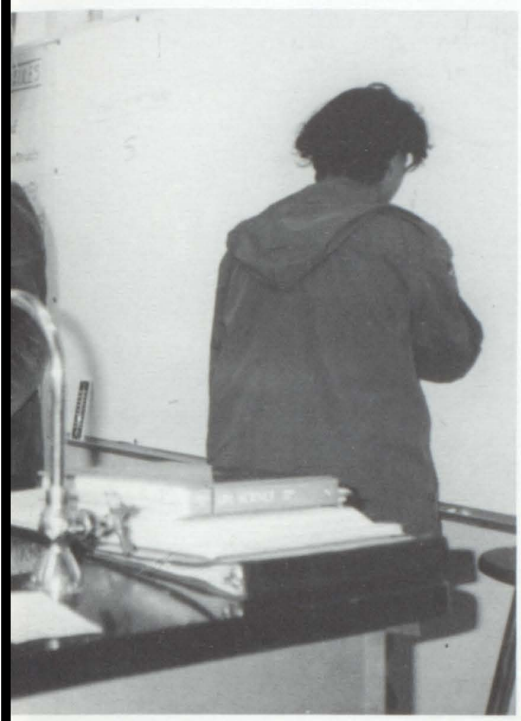
"Placing your fingers like so, stops the brain fluid from leaking", explains Ethan Wimert to Jenny Meads.



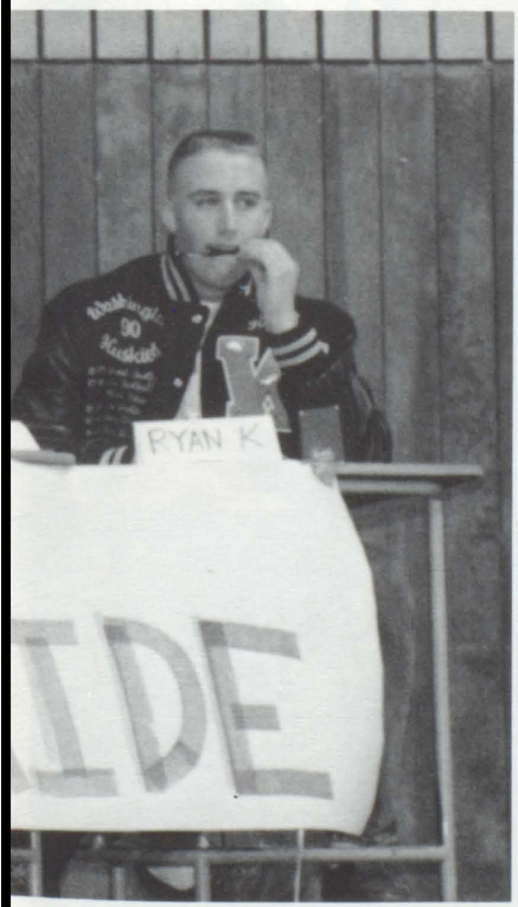
"Who is the host of Soul Train?" Mr. Miller questions.

Massy Ghausi, Joey Patel, Vineet Soni, Ryan Keys, (The Final Ride of the Idiots) win the Championship for the 3rd consecutive year with ease.

BOWL IV



The "Brave New Dawn" and "AB Toast" battle for a chance to move on to the final round.



"The Flying Death Squad", John Farr, Bryan Gebhardt, Michael Winterstein, and Michael Williamson, in action.

"JEOPARDY" . . . Husky Style

Washington's 1990 Academic Brainbowl Competition was perhaps the most exciting Brainbowl in W.H.S.'s 4 yr. history of the intraschool tournament. 15 teams comprised of 60 people from all grades competed during lunch in a 20 min. match, consisting of questions about history, science, the arts, and even knitting.

The names of the teams ranged from "Brainbowl Bimbos" to "The Dripping Showerheads". The matches themselves got pretty competitive, and many students took the competition very seriously.

In the finals, two teams "Brave New Dawn" and "Final Idiot Ride" pulled off a sound victory in front of over 100 fans in the South Gym.

The performance of players in the school tournament will determine who represents the school in the M.V.A.L. and the Bay Area Academic tournaments.

In the past few years, the Brainbowl has been gaining some prestige at Washington. Our team has won the regional tournament and gone to the National Academic Championships, 3 out of the last 5 years. Participation in this year's event, has been the highest yet. In fact, the Brainbowl is slowly becoming a tradition at W.H.S..

This year Washington's Academic Team consists of Massy Ghausi, Mark Hall, Joey Patel, Ryan Keys, and Freshmen Avani Patel and Mike Winterstein.

WINTER

"This is the happiest moment of my life," thinks Kristen Anderly as she dances with Rusty Russel. Amy Getz is seen "dirty dancing" in the background.

Andrew Fetzler and Brenda Wollie having a holiday discussion.

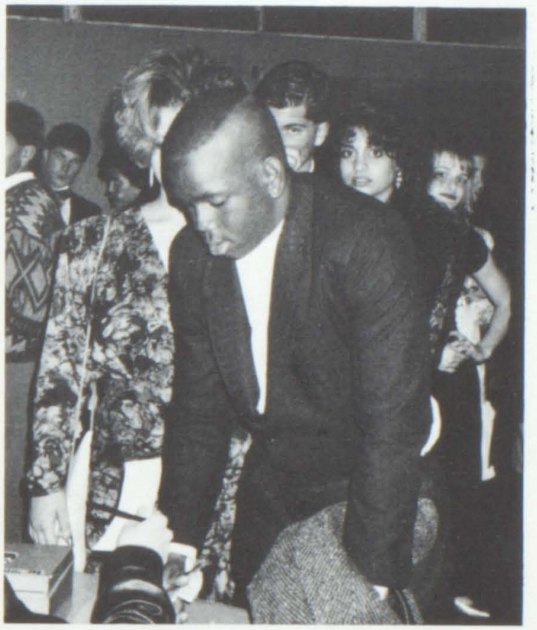
"You can't be serious," exclaims Claudia Banda. Next to Claudia is her date, Brandon Kelly.

The money, the plans, the reservations, the shopping time! What could all this worry be about? Of course, the winter ball! Preparations are so costly and time consuming. Who will ask me? Who will I ask? What will I wear? How will I afford it? These are all questions related to this dance. So much effort is put into planning, it seems the moment will never come.

Finally, after all the waiting, the moment is here. Washington high schools own winter ball. What an evening it was!

This years winter ball was held on Saturday, December 17th. The sophomore class sponsored it and did a nice job. Decorations, refreshments, and the music was great. It was a night to be remembered as couples elegantly walked into the gym, prepared for an evening of dancing and excitement.

BALL



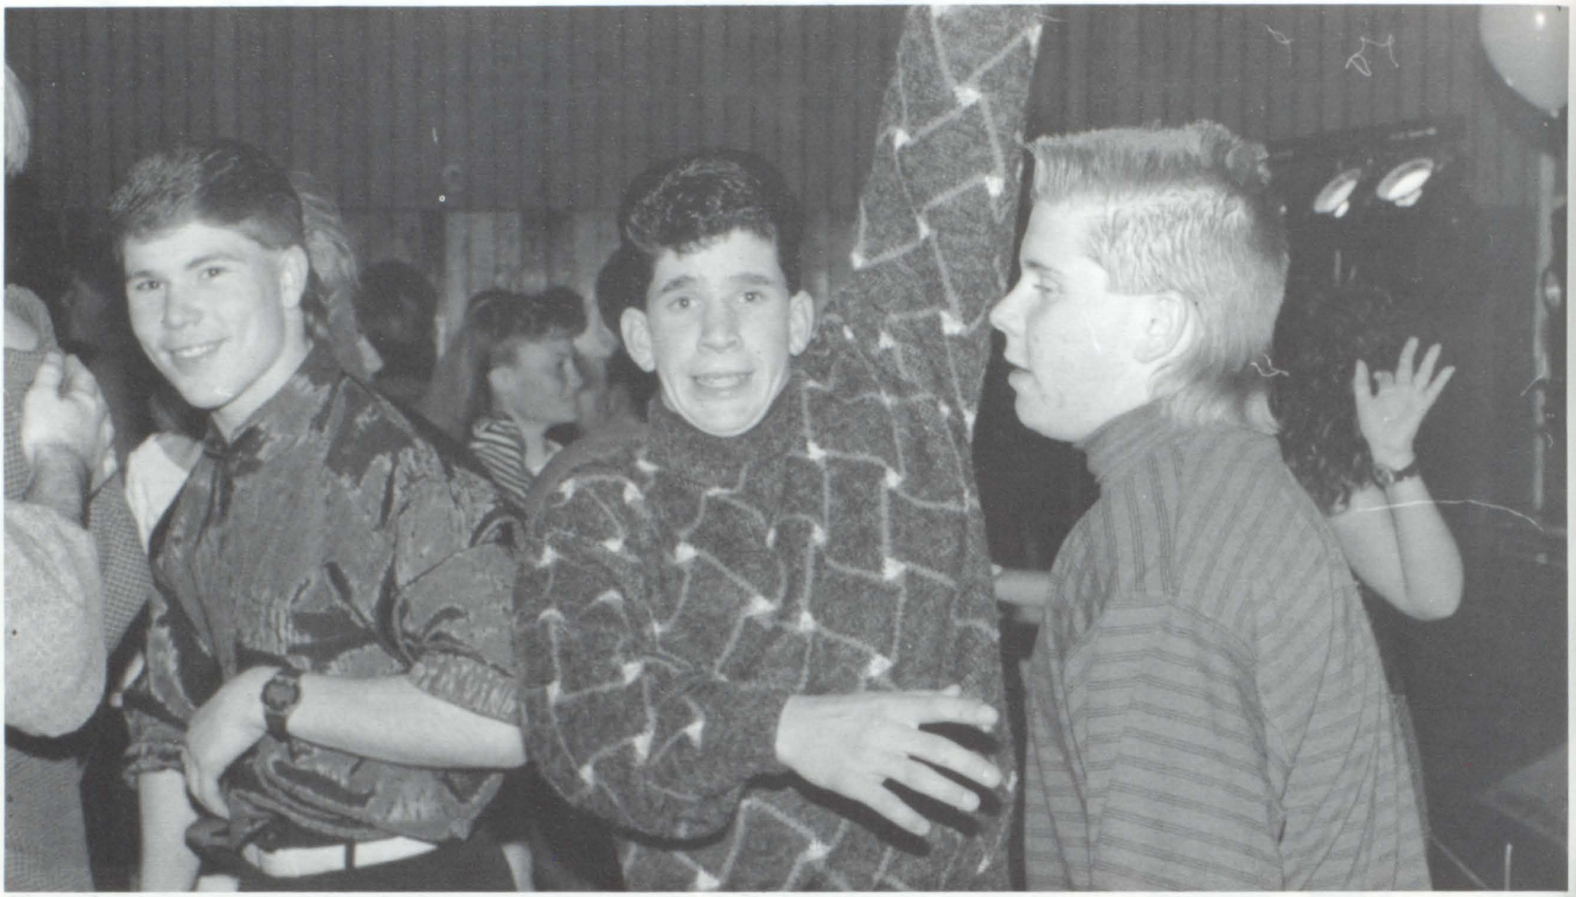
"What do you mean we had to have reservations?" asks Brian Jackson. Brian is waiting to have his and his dates picture taken.

Romance was in the air as couples dance happily to one of the many slow songs.

"I agree" says Darcy Haubert to Scott Hiatt. The two are with their dates Steve Enriquez and Laura Ceullar.

"What a hunk!" Tammy Wilson says to Karen Hartcamp.

Valentines



"Look at my new dance!" Geoge Emmit boogies the night away as Jody Phelps laughs. Manuel Gonzales is to busy to even pay attention to him.

Maintenance is an important part of a dance, just ask Joey Patel as he checks the equipment.

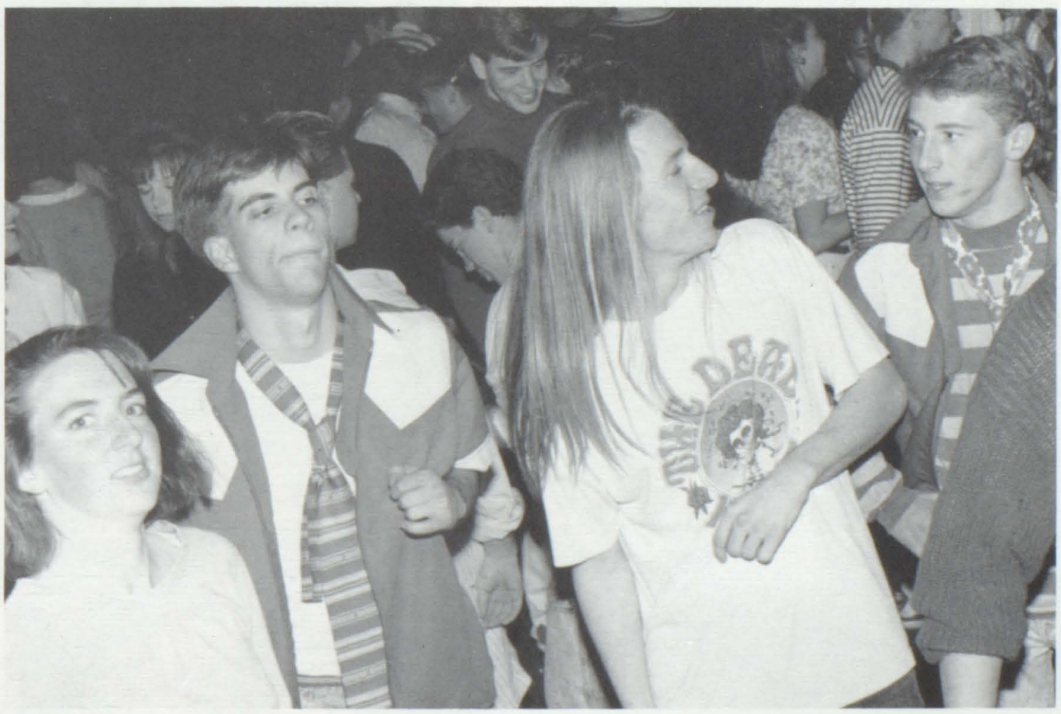
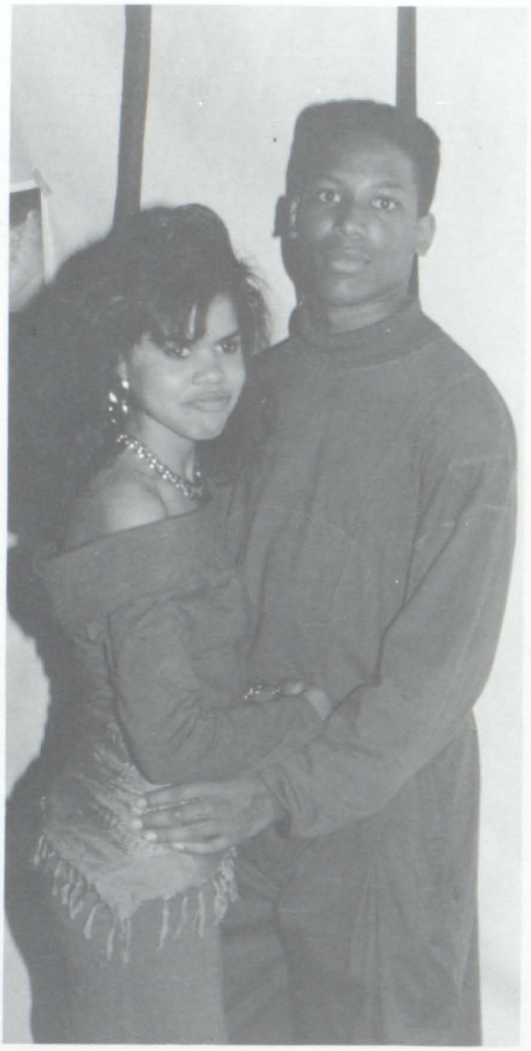
"Isn't that special'" exclaims Dennis Druckhammer. Dennis is dancing to the tunes at his last Valentines dance.

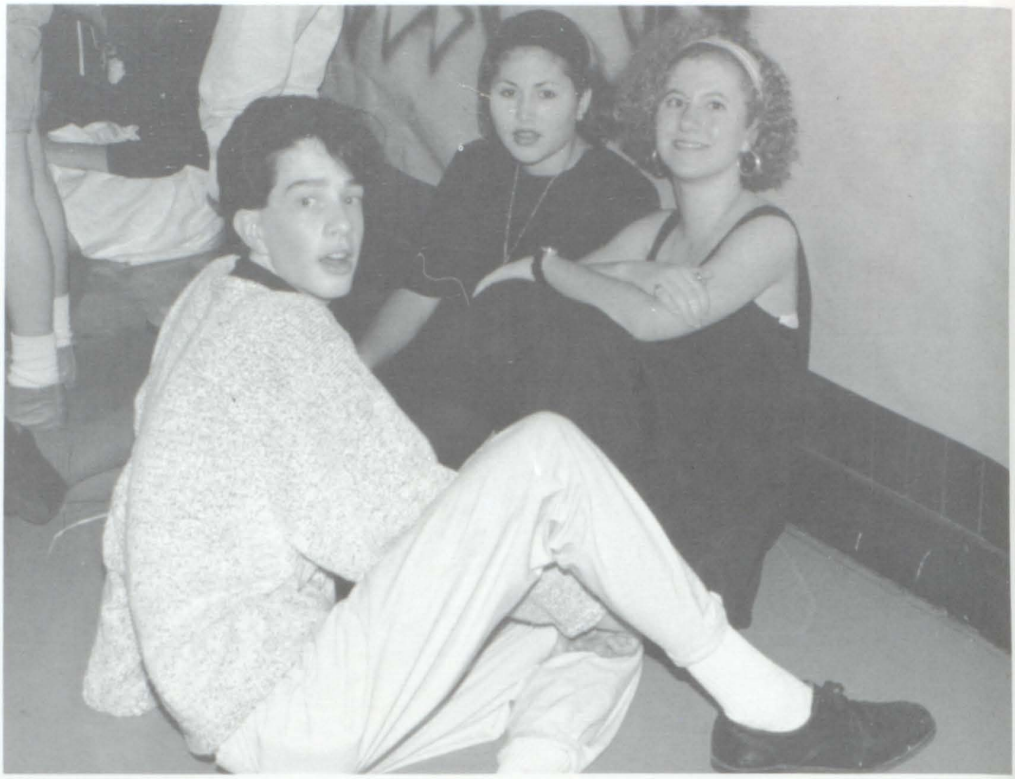
"If only I could . . ." dreams Nicole Pruitt.



"I'm having a great time," Joel Means tells Jeff Goyert. Aaron Reed and Jennifer Speed boogie to the beat next to them.



Sharon Kamp stays close to Carnedius Hines saying, "You can't have him, he's mine."



HEY, why aren't you guys dancing? Matt Nichols, Angie Melendez, and Frapa Stout sit against the wall enjoying the music.

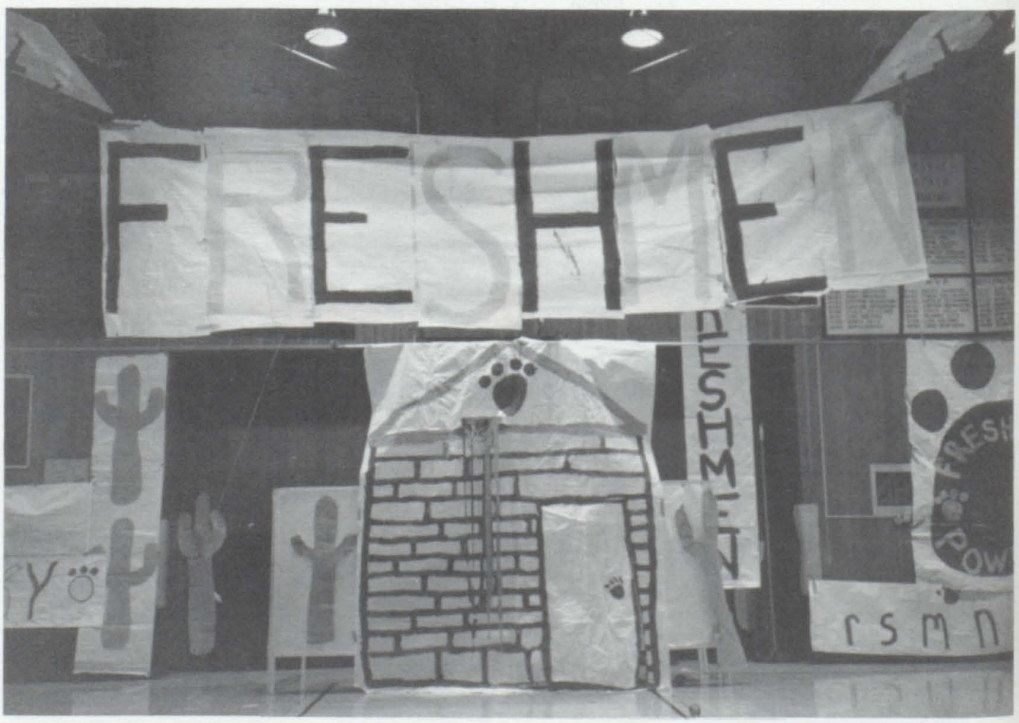
A DAY IN THE DESERT

Elaine Lang and Jennifer Palmer saddle up with Hank the Husky, Valerie Staehi.

The Class of '93 shows promise as they strut their stuff on Spirit Week. Cowboy Leon rallied up spirit from the other MVAL schools, but unable to conquer the vicious Newark Memorial cheerleaders. He finally came to Washington calling each class one by one. The Sophomores came out dancing but could not match the Newark cheerleaders. The Juniors tried dancing by them, but no luck. Not even the Seniors could beat them. But when the cowboy called out the Freshman class, they dazzled the whole school with their fancy footwork. Even though the Freshman took fourth place, they put on a great display of true Washington spirit.



The Freshman stage set for a hot time in the desert.

Lisa Olsen is the Good Fairy taking care of the stray kittens Tracy Jackson and Jennifer Britto.

During this year's Spirit Week, the Class of 1992 edged out the Juniors for the second place title. Monday the whole school displayed their spirit dressed in orange and black. The Sophomores were off to a great start, continuing to show their enthusiasm throughout the week dressed as opposite sexs, hippies and in plastic. Tuesday's CANDYLAND skit showed how much they deserve the 'sweet' success.

"Spirit Week was a hassle to begin with, but I believe that it turned out a lot better than I expected. This year's skit dealt with out mascot HANK beating all the other schools at the thing they do best: Showing Washington Huskies' superiority over the other schools of the MVAL. I believe the sophomores are content with second place. Next year, however, we will take first." -Matt Severson, Class of 92 President.

Cleaning Up: It's a tough job, but somebody has to do it! says Mike Fauver, Brad Flanagan, and Aaron Lafar.

Shahrokhi Talieh and Gina Beagles hurry to join the other sophomores fashionably dressed in plastic bags.

Brady Taylor and Jason Ramos, the beautiful women? of Washington!

Justin Wright screams, "I'm ALL for women's rights!"

The night before the big day. "Where should we put this mat?"

SPIRIT BUSTERS

976-1991

Jennifer Frazier, Tina Cox, Stacy Lowe, and Nikki Davis anxiously awaits for the Spirit week games to begin.

The Junior skit, Tuesday, started the week off by getting rid of the BAD spirit. Dressed as "Spirit Busters" costumes, they were able to make the bad spirit of the MVAL disappear. American had no hairspray, Mission had no money, Kennedy and Irvington had no drugs. The devil invaded Moreau and Newark took HANK the HUSKY for Washington. The "Spirit Busters" went to every school and got rid of the bad spirit. Everything went back to normal and HANK was returned to the orange and black.

Karen Skubal, junior vice-president- "As an officer I felt the Juniors did GREAT! As we practiced our skit and it came together, it made me notice how much spirit our class really has. We've grown together and have united as a class. I'm proud to say I'm a JUNIOR!"

"We may be dressed in plastic but our spirit isn't bagged up!" cheer Chesna Blazick, Krisey Greene, and Jennifer Frazier.

Blast back to the past with the SENIORS who twisted and shouted to victory this year in leather jackets and poodle skirts. Spirit week is always especially important to SENIORS, and for the Class of 90, there was no exception. This year's SENIORS started what they called the SENIOR SPIRIT STATION, where class members went each morning to pick up their unity item of the day. Monday morning Washington was attacked by Class of 90 orange and black T-shirts, which were followed by kazoos, bumper stickers, and American flags. All dressed for battle, the SENIORS ambushed the school on Army Day morning, chanting military rhymes. To top a great week off, the SENIORS set the stage with Big Al's Diner singing and dancing to your favorite oldies but goodies; A skit teachers complimented as being "one of the best they've ever seen!"

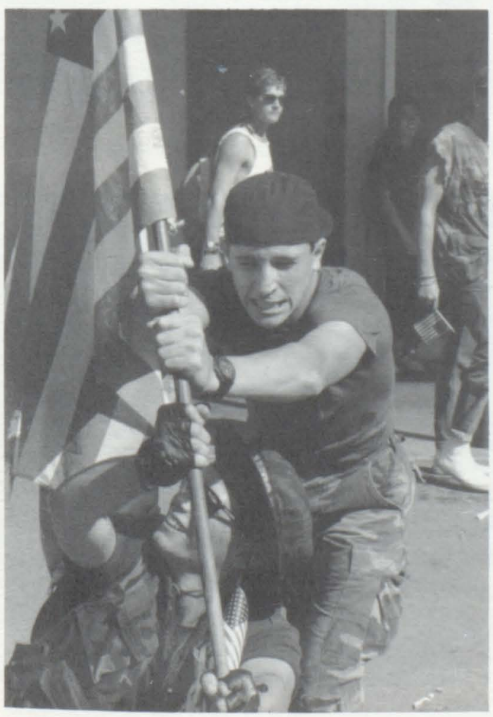
The spirit of Washington: HANK, SANDRA DEE SPIRIT, and let's not forget the ORANGE LADIES.

Is the Moreau group praying for the 'spirit'?

The Young Mothers of Irvington, along with their faithful coach Simmons, take a moment out of Lamaze class to pose for a picture.

"This is how I always dress." Massy Ghausi tells us.

Joel Means as Sandra Dee Spirit, "How do I look?"



Craig Hall and Mike Odell fight for possession of the American Flag. "Gimme!"

WOW!! Is it Pippy Longstocking or Becky Nava on Nerd Day?

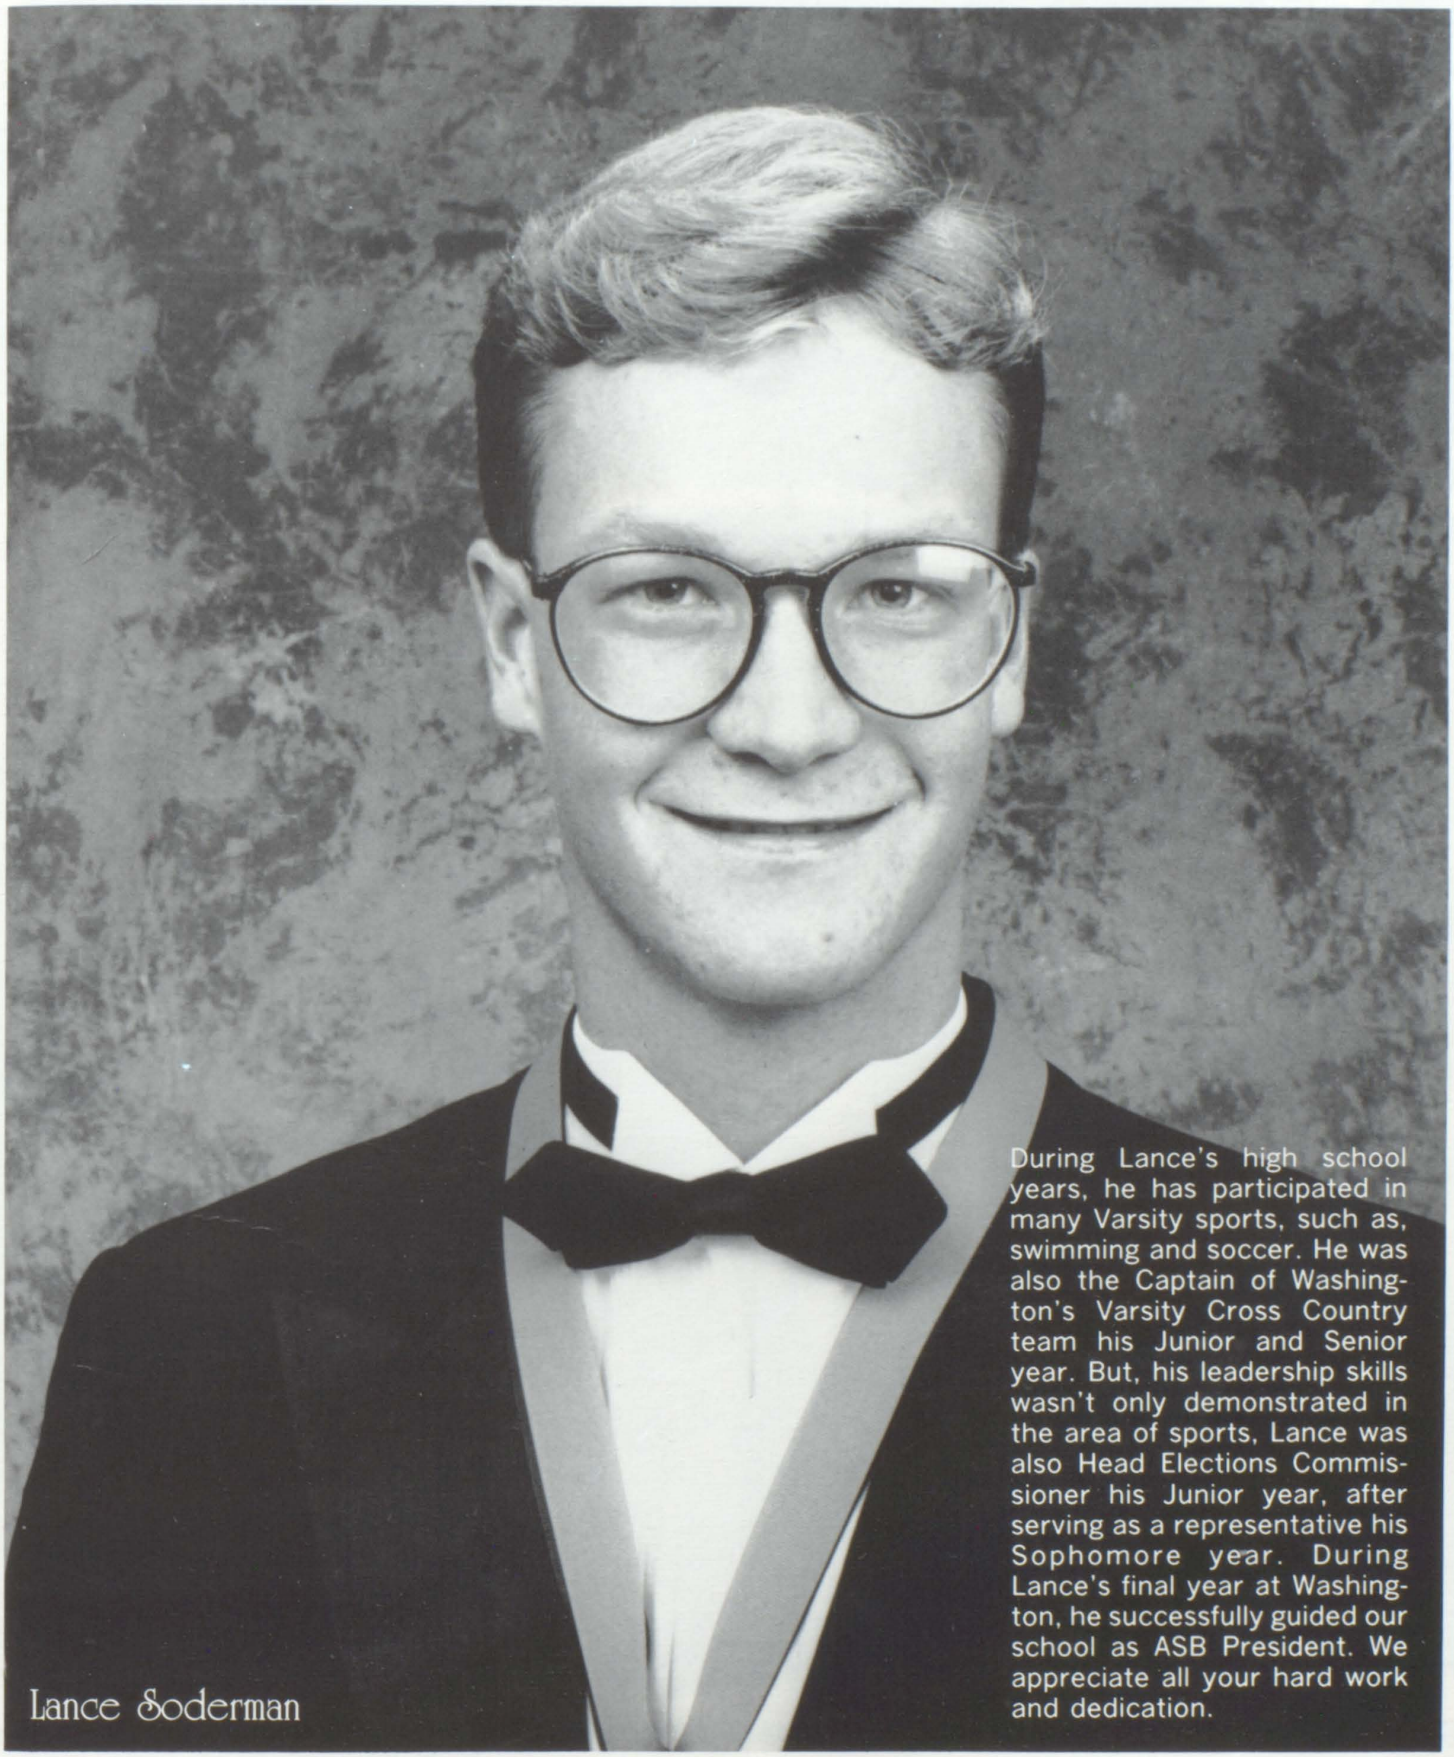
Raising spirit at Washington High School wasn't a problem for Gia. She was on the Varsity Songgirl Team since her Sophomore year, and as a Senior, Gia was also Head of the Songgirls, Head of the Rally Squad, Head Elections Commissioner, and the Spirit Commissioner. But dancing and cheering isn't all that Gia can do. She also served two years as Class President during her Freshman and Sophomore years, and a City Council Representative for Washington during her Junior year. Being a member of CSF for three years, Gia proves to have also excelled academically. Thank you, Gia for your continuous support.

Gia Solari

Mr. Husky

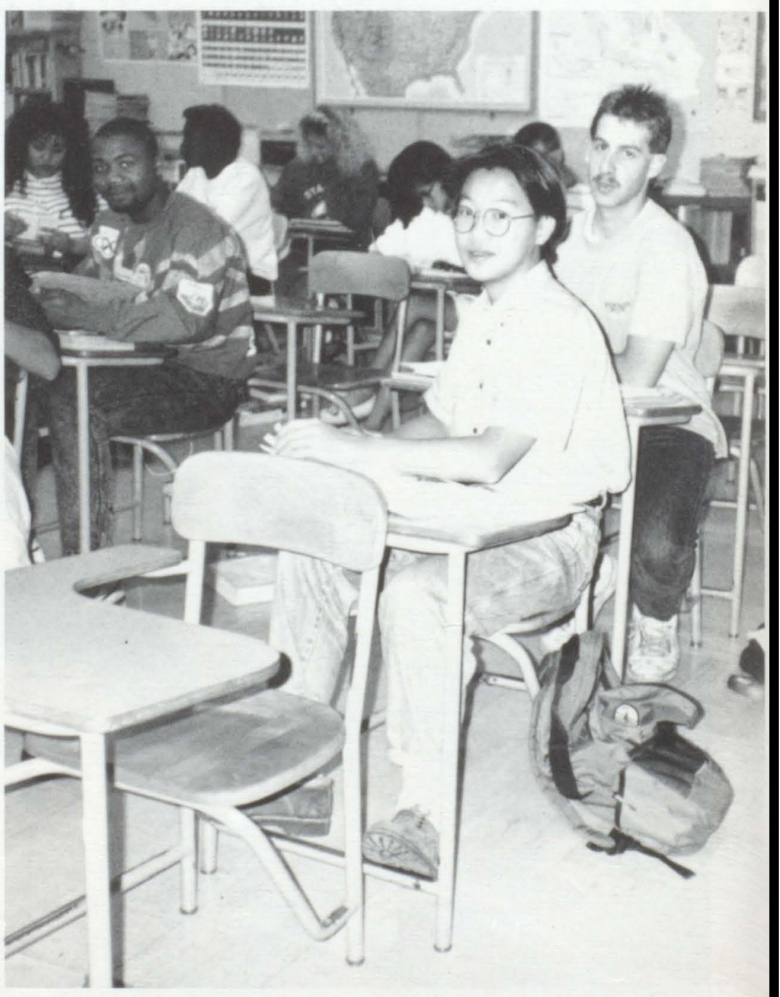


Lance Soderman

During Lance's high school years, he has participated in many Varsity sports, such as, swimming and soccer. He was also the Captain of Washington's Varsity Cross Country team his Junior and Senior year. But, his leadership skills wasn't only demonstrated in the area of sports, Lance was also Head Elections Commissioner his Junior year, after serving as a representative his Sophomore year. During Lance's final year at Washington, he successfully guided our school as ASB President. We appreciate all your hard work and dedication.

Activities at lunch can really draw the crowds in whether they participate or just watch and cheer.

Freshmen, Connie Davis, Mary Flores, and Saundra Rogers enjoy their first year of High School Lunchtimes.



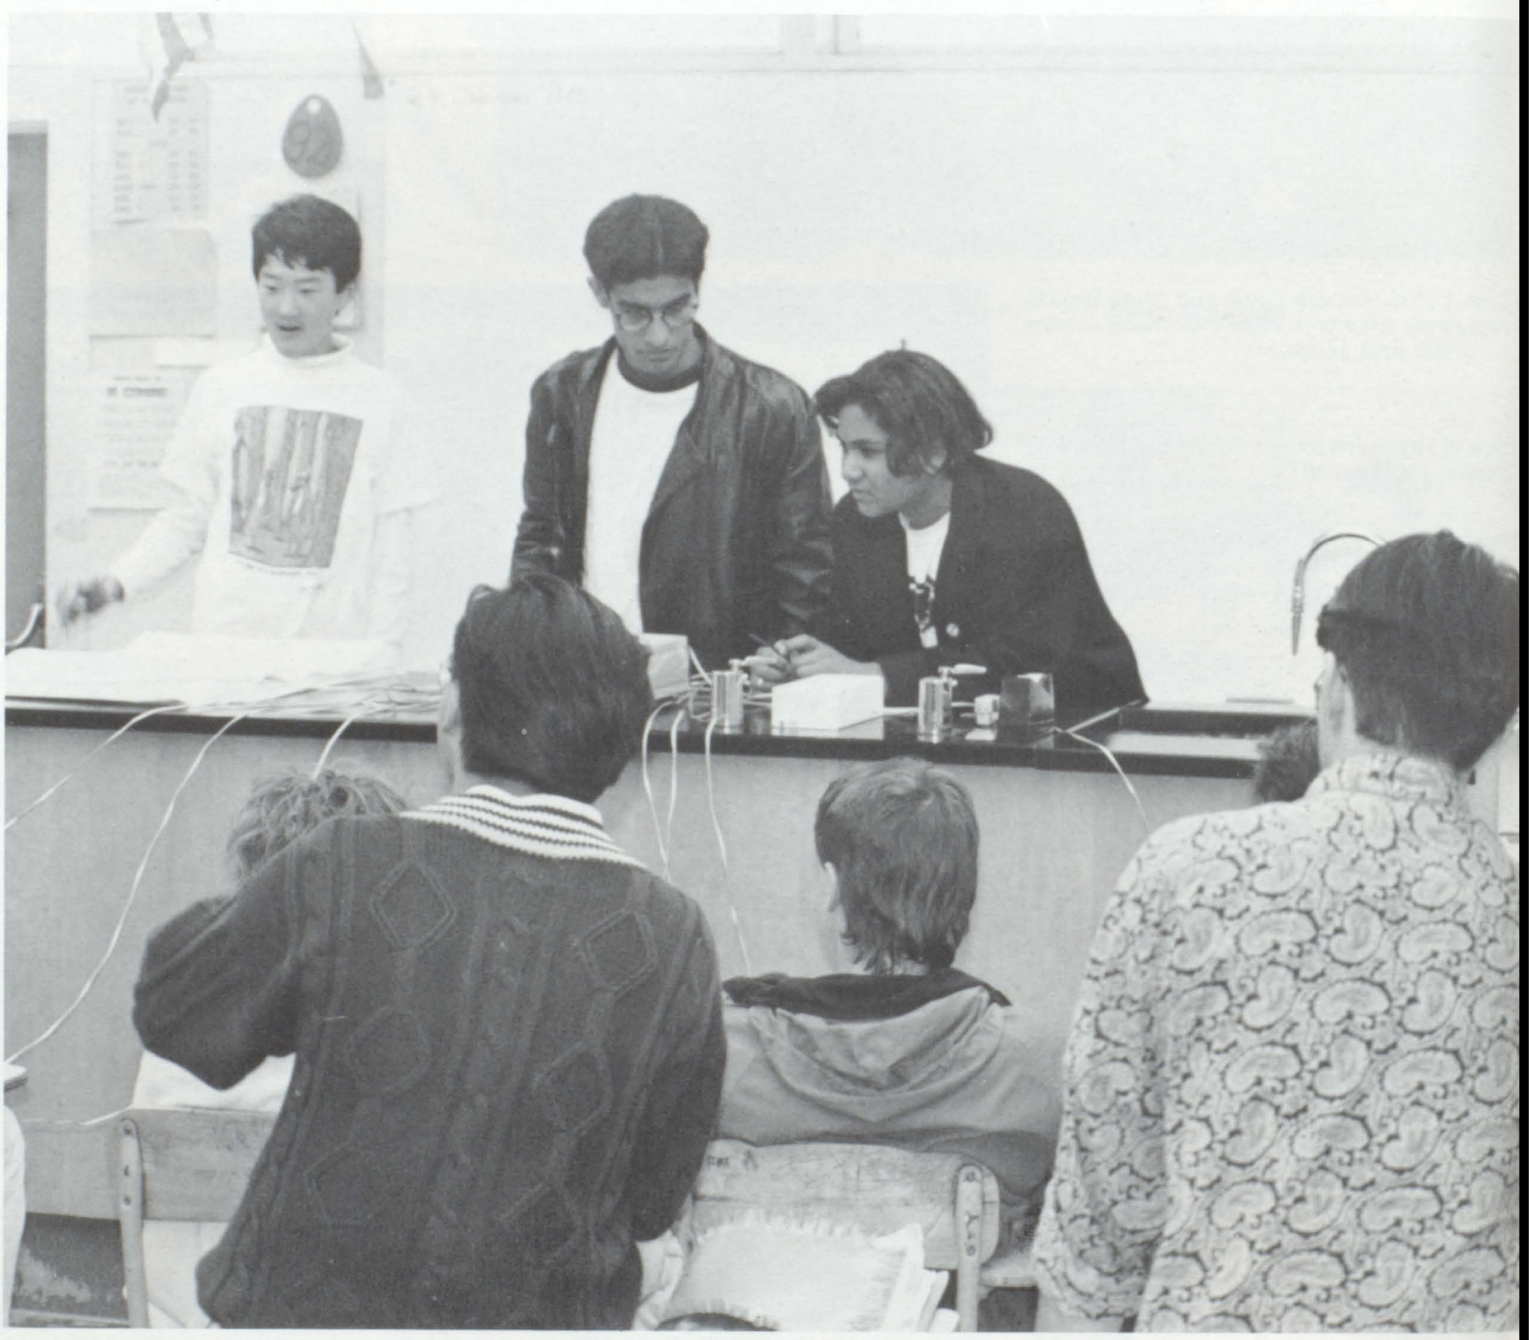
Jermaine White, George Lee, and Todd Weddle usually pay attention in class, but they always have time to pose for a picture if its going into the yearbook.

Sean Lucus, Antwan Love, and Chris Brooks enjoy their lunchtime while their friend studies for a test next period.

Lots of keychains for one key. Wow!! How does it fit in your pocket?

Is that Mrs. Vis? She actively participates in school activities like a high school student at heart.

Behind



Organizations

the Scenes

Husky Variety

There are many clubs offered to Washington High School students. Each club is dedicated to its own unique purpose. This year Washington High has ten different clubs. The clubs' activities range from educating human rights, to competing for the Brain Bowl.

For the students who like to learn some cultural experience, there are four clubs which aim to that interest. They are the French club, the Spanish club, the German club, and the International club. The clubs welcome all students and not just the students who take a specific foreign language at school. The International club gives students a glimpse at the globe. Its members may participate in a variety of activities such as an exotic banquet or a trip to a museum.

If traveling is your style, then come and see what the ski club and close-up club can offer. The powder addicts come out of hibernation to play in the snow. The caring citizens and future politicians fly to our nation's capital to get a closer look at the Congress. But there is plenty of excitement right here where the Huskies dwell. Block W club recognizes the outstanding achievements of our athletes. The club's purpose is to promote interest and leadership in sports and encourage a spirit of service to Washington High.

California Scholarship Federation, also known as C.S.F., contributes assistance to the community and recognizes students with outstanding academic achievements. C.S.F. also offers scholarships to graduating seniors.

Two brand new clubs are welcomed to W.H.S. this year. Amnesty International was formed at the end of last year by Dagmar Stones. This year the club is fully activated and is occupied working on special campaigns to urge human rights for political prisoners.

Academic Society is a group engaged in the pursuit of knowledge. The club sponsors academic competitions which are played by members. The top team competes with team from other schools.

Don't deprive yourself of the opportunities that W.H.S. can offer. Come and see what these clubs can give. You will only gain more friends, fun, and knowledge of the people and the world and in which we share.

C.S.F.

CSF stands for California Scholarship Federation. To be a member, one must have a strong grade point average. The members of the clubs are not a bunch of bookworms as some students may stereotype. Good grades are important to these students who are hardworkers.

This year CSF have over a hundred members. The active members of the club dedicate themselves to sponsor the canned food drive for the needies. Over 3,000 cans were given to the Tri City volunteers to feed the hungry this Christmas.

CSF members enjoy the privilege to get out of class and go to the library using their CSF card. An icecream party is organized once a year. Members can also participate on fieldtrips to San Francisco, Berkeley, or Santa Cruz.

FRENCH

Parlez-vous francais? Non? You don't have to take French to be in this club. The French Club is a group of students who likes to explore the culture and traditions of France. There is a French Feast once a semester when the members enjoy some of the favorite French delicatessens. A fieldtrip is organized in the Spring to see a French movie or play, to go to a museum, or to a French restaurant. These students have a lot of fun while they get to know the "French Connection".

FOREIGN FUN

Hola amigos! Como estas? Welcome to the Spanish Club! Many people wonder what we do in the club and what is the purpose of it. To give you a little introduction, it is a club where students get together and plan activities to explore the different aspects of the Spanish culture. The methods varying from attacking a big plate of authentic Spanish food to observing the traditional dances at a ballet. Last year the club organized a fieldtrip to TiaJuana. Hopefully, with more vigorous fundraisings such as carwash and candy sale, the officers would like to do the same this year. The first semester of this year, the Spanish Club went to El Burro.

Meeting new friends, having fun, and taking a peek at the Spanish Culture is what this club is all about. New members and new ideas are always welcomed to make this club more fun and exciting.

GERMAN CLUB

The German Club consists of a handful of students who enjoy experiencing and exploring the German culture. Mrs. Larson is the club's advisor. German club gains it's funds by holding fundraisers throughout the school year. These funds pay for field trips or parties the club might have during the course of the school year. Membership is open to anybody in this school wishing to explore the German culture.

CLOSE-UP

The Close-Up program is a fun-filled week at the nation's capitol in Washington D.C. Students go to learn about the federal government and also to study the colonial government in Williamsburg. Seminars and workshops were held by numerous instructors. These workshops provided information and insight into how our federal government is run. Students attending close-up are led on sight-seeing tours with also 1 free day where they may go out on their own to explore our nation's capitol. The Close-Up program is great for people who wish to learn more about our federal government. It is a great social and educational experience and would definitely be worth your while.

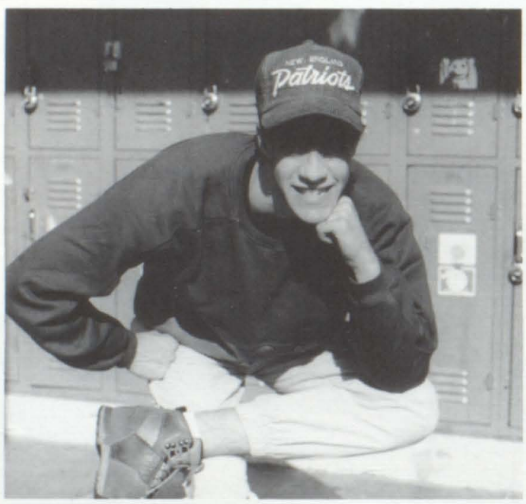
IT'S BACK

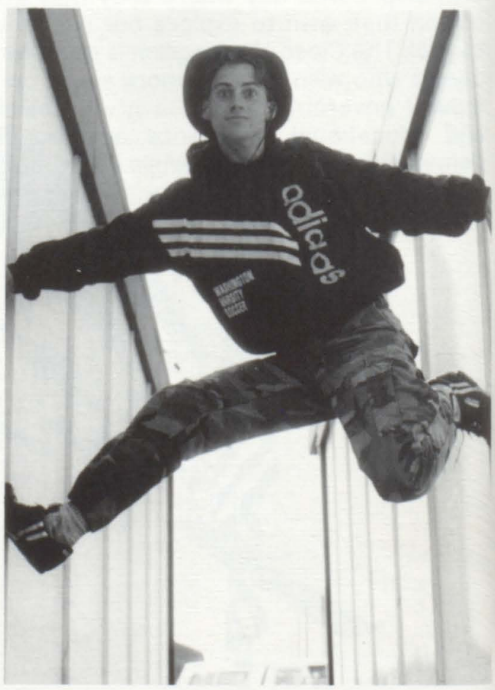
The Block W club is the varsity letter club. Any student who has a varsity letter block has the option to join. This year the club was brought back. This is the first year it has existed in several years. This year the club concentrated on picking up their participation and building up their strength. The club has been meeting every other week. Every month we choose two outstanding husky athletes to serve as the Block W athletes of the month. The Block W club is once more rising to the top!



"I wouldn't give a busted nickel plated watch for a horse that wouldn't buck" - Aaron Reed

"There seems to be a club for everything else, it's nice to have one for athletes too." - Kelly Hale

"We have but on thing to say . . ." - Lance Soderman and Jeff Goyert



"A stallion needs to run and run free." "An ox on the tundra grows no mold." - Joe Hedgecock

CULTURE

The International club helps students explore different cultures of the world. We let them view for themselves when we take them on field trips. Not only do we study about remote ways of life, we have fun learning it. There's a lot of creative and adventurous ways we try to promote their minds to distinct behaviors and life styles. For instance, testing out foreign foods seems to be the favorite way to let them taste the odd yet unique flavor of foreign cuisines. Above all, the International club's main purpose is to increase their knowledge on exotic cultures.

"On our trip to San Francisco we saw a lot of different cultures and had a lot of fun." - Joann Tuan

"The club itself is fun. You get to experience different cultures. The best part is tasting different kinds of food." - Jin Kim

"It's an interesting club. You get to meet new people and try new things." - Chien Wu

The Washington High School PARENT-TEACHER-STUDENT ASSOCIATION
1989-1990

Mrs. Chestnut was honored at the annual Founders Day program for her outstanding service and dedication to our school. WHS thanks you!

PTSA SUPPORTS US!

PARENT-TEACHER-STUDENT ASSOCIATION. (P.T.S.A.) Many people ask what this group is and what they do for our school. Well, the PTSA is an organization which is determined to support the Washington High School students and fulfill many of their wants and needs in the classroom, as well as about campus. The PTSA, obviously, thrives on parent involvement; yet it also encourages the support of the community.

The PTSA is most famous with the students on Friday mornings when many of it's members can be found in the hallways selling donuts. Selling for 35¢ a donut, or three for one dollar, the money raised by this and other projects is returned to the specially selected students in the form of (much needed and appreciated!) scholarships.

Thank you to our PTSA, for your great dedication!

BOOSTERS

ATHLETIC PRIDE!

The BOOSTERS is a club made up of parents designed to support the athletes of Washington High School. They tie the knot between the athletes, other parents, and the coaching staffs at W.H.S. They also manage the Washington newsletter, known as the Paw Print.

Judy Hu, the Booster representative to the Student Council, describes the Boosters as "a group of extremely dedicated parents." Judy knows the Booster club is acknowledged, but she doesn't feel others truly realize how much they do. Some of the ways they have supported our sports is through the purchasing of new goals for the soccer team redoing the floor in the weight room, enlarging the wrestling room, and organizing the snack bars at various games.

The 1989-1990 Booster club introduced the first annual crab feed; replacing the spaghetti feed which was previously held each year at W.H.S.

To the Boosters, thank you so much for your support!

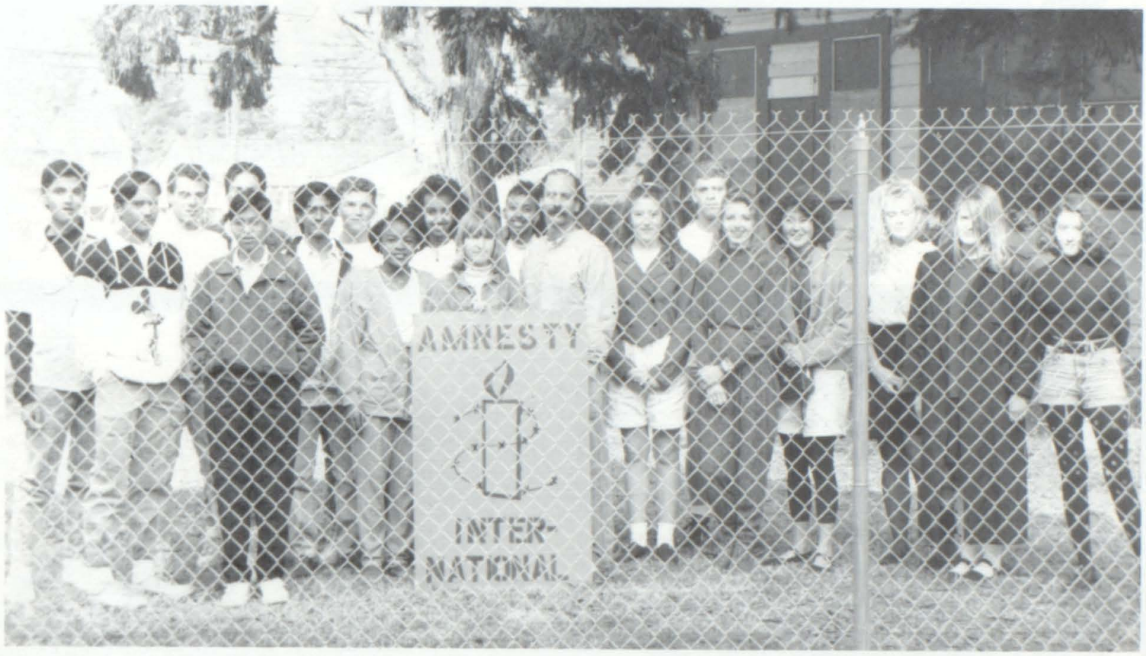
AMNESTY

LETTERS DO HELP!

Amnesty International is a club made up of many outgoing people who take action for the political prisoners around the world. Our club here at W.H.S. is a charter of the extremely large and powerful Amnesty International group around the world which is made up of thousands of people. Many of it's members are celebrities, such as Sting and Peter Gabriel. Their form of action is letter writing to particular governments which are holding the innocent people. You may wonder how much help a simple letter can do, but there have been many success stories already with this process. To be a member of Amnesty International, you do not have to be highly active in politics, you just have to care!



The 1989-1990 AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL club: behind bars for what they believe in.

KNOWLEDGE IS THE KEY

Many people ask, "What is the Academic Society? What is their purpose?" Well, the Academic Society is made up of Washington High School students who get together to train for the Academic Decathalon, better known to others as Brain Bowl. In the Brain Bowl, two separate teams are asked specific questions and the first team to hit the buzzer and answer the question correctly, scores the point. The topics that the players are quizzed on vary from science, to history, to English; and so on. Many people would compare it to a game of Trivial Pursuit, yet the questions may get much more difficult. Our Academic Society is made up of some extremely intelligent people, but they are all around great guys, too!

(CONGRATULATIONS to last years Brain Bowlers who took a trip to New Orleans for the National Championship!)

SPORTS

Husky Power!

After a long day in classrooms, many Huskies find the time and energy to spend the remainder of the day participating in extracurricular activities. A number of Huskies devote countless hours in many of the most popular activities found at Washington: SPORTS.

Even through long gruelling practices, these athletes discover that the hard work does pay off. Not only do sports help many past the time away, athletes are taught important lessons of discipline and teamwork.

The valuable skills that these athletes gain, shine during competitions. They exhibit pride, not only in themselves and their teammates, but also of the school they represent.

We would like to thank all the Husky athletes for the great job they have done in making Washington High School a definite force to be reckoned with in the MVALs.

THANKS HUSKIES!!! You've all shown our winning, Husky Power!!

Every Count Has A Move

No one thought we'd make it this far, especially me! We came out of the year definitely at the top. Congratulations on all of our accomplishments. An invitation to the national competition in Miami, 1st Place at Chico Camp, the Spirit Stick, the Superior Trophy, and 1st Place at the American Competition, (We beat MSJ!) just to name a few. Like I told you at the beginning of the year, we can do it, and by all means, we did what we set out to do. I love you all like sisters. God knows we practically lived together at certain times during the past year. Thanks, Elaine, for being my right hand. I really appreciate all you've done. (1990, forever!) And to the rest of you who will make the Huskies "shine" once again next year (and maybe even the next year too!) I wish you all the best of luck. It's a lot of hard work but in the end you'll feel as proud as I do of all of you. Also, maybe I'll run into you all during the summer ... UDA all the way! This time I'll be wearing blue, red, and gold though. Oh Yeah! Once again, I truly thank you all for your hard work and perseverance. Remember one thing for me: "Every count has a move, every move has a count!"

When the score is 42-7, it's difficult to stay interested in the game. The Rally Squad cheered our Husky teams on to many MVAL victories throughout the year.

CHEER

Every Move Has A Count

"I don't think my arms are ever going to come out of this position!" thinks Sophomore Wendy Helm as she attempts to hold a cheerful smile.

Come on Huskies! You can do it! The Rally Squad's prayers were answered as the Husky running-back glided past the goal line for the game-winning touchdown.

The crowd might think this dedicated cheerleader is intensely watching the game, when in fact, Sophomore Gina Beagles is daydreaming about what she is going to do, after the game is over.

It's try out morning. You pick a number, you sit anxiously waiting for your chance to perform. You did it, you're done. Nervously you wait in hopes that your name will be one of five chosen for the 1989-1990 Rally Squad. Your name is called, you jump in excitement. Suddenly you realize that you are now part of a big commitment.

As an experienced cheerleader, I can honestly say that the 1989-1990 Rally Squad is the best squad I've ever been involved with. During summer camp this year at Chico State a lot of friendships were made. With all the victories we claimed, such as the spirit stick, second place on home routine, and the spirit plaque. We also gained the most important thing — that is our valuable friendships. With all the laughter, the secrets, and the special lesson session, the Husky cheerleaders became one happy family. In my goodbyes, I would like to wish you all the best of luck, and remember, "we can't be friends write now". I love you guys!!

The Washington High School Varsity Football Team had a great season. Losing only 3 of its 10 games, the Huskies proved they were a strong contender for first place. The Huskies, 23 men strong, were lead by fearless captains, Robert Riley and Darren Hiller.

Although we had two disappointing upsets, the highlight of the season was the 42-0 whomp over our neighboring American High Eagles. Winning our homecoming game against Newark Memorial 37-0, was an inspiration also.

As we all know, Husky Football is not known for its famous passing offense, and this year wasn't much different. But the Huskies went down in the MVAL Record Books for, "Most Rushing Ever, at over 2200 yards."

The Huskies did not accomplish their ultimate goal this year, which was to be first place champions. But they did have a good season, and finished in a tie for second.

Once again, the Junior Varsity football team enjoyed a winning season with a record of 8-1-1. This year's J.V. had a lot of experience, having 13 juniors playing for them. The offense proved to be a second - half team scoring 2/3's of their points in the third and fourth quarters of their games. In command was quarterback Kent Eloala, who threw 8 touchdown passes this season. Great blocking by Mike Guerra, Kevin Dunn, Christian Mayer, Don Torres, Kieth Putt, and Lloyd Zmecko allowed Ken Davis, Paul Wenger, Jason Mitchell, and Jason Naintre to do some excellent running. The 'House of Discomfort' helped the "Four Horseman" produce a few 100+ yard games each. But the offense could not win the game alone. The j.v. defense recorded two shut-outs and averaged one turnover a game. Linebackers Steve Marchetti, Jason Naintre, Noel Melanio, Jason Mitchell, Christian Mayer, and Mike Guerra stuffed their opponents running game with the help of Dunn, Torres, Steve Enriquez, and Peter Gonsales, the defensive line. While they were taking care of the run, Jeff Stoermer, Aaron Ingram, David McCoy, Paul Wenger, and Ken Davis were stopping their air attack. Also this year it came down to the head - to- head contest between Washington and James Logan to decide who would be Junior Varsity champions. Even after a week long of concentration and preparation, Logan won. One player's comment was-"They intimidated us into making our own mistakes." In these player's high school careers they have not beaten the Logan Colts. Let's bring back the 'Pop' Gould trophy back to the Huskies next year.

The Husky Pups are ready to show Irvington the meaning of pain.

The frosh football team ended this season with a 4-3 record under a coaching staff that was new to the Huskies. Head Coach McKinney and his staff had some fine running games from fullback Json Ready and half-backs Steve Fernandes, Harold Trias, and Jeff Weed. But they could only do their fine running with the tremendous blocking of their offensive line, which consisted of Manuel Gonsalves, Des Snyder, Rick Ton, Phil Singh, and Brian Gelfuso. The offense could only out score their opponents by a slim margin of 15.5 points per game to their opponent's 13.7 points per game because of the strong play by their defense. The freshmen had a tough defensive effort with Manuel Gonsalves, Jody Phelps, Rick Ton, and Jeremy Montoya rotating at the defensive line positions. While the linebackers stuffed the run, Jason Colon, Charlie Alpertalli, Matt McEwen and Joey Espino were stopping the opponent's air attack. All in all, the freshmen had a pretty impressive season, and were finally able to break the curse of the dreaded orange jerseys. Their three losses were in these jerseys and no other varsity or junior varsity had ever won in them. But then came Logan! The freshmen set a goal to win in the orange jerseys and that they did. Good luck in your years to come playing Husky Football.

Run . . . No, You Run!

This year in Cross Country there were a lot of talented, young runners. Unfortunately they were hampered by a great number of injuries. As a whole the Cross Country team ran very well. All three levels had more talent than their records suggested. The Boys Frosh-Soph and Varsity were held back by their injuries, and the Varsity Girls didn't have a full team until the end of the season.

Outstanding runners were Freshmen Liz Mousouralis for the girls, Sophomore Alex Hansen for the Boys Frosh-Soph, and Senior Lance Soderman for the Boys Varsity. The most improved on the team were Sophomore Jennifer Sees and Senior Lance Soderman. The "Top Dog" award went to Liz Mousourakis, who earned the most points.

The girls varsity volleyball team enjoyed another winning season under the guidance of head coach Marie Dean. The team made it all the way to the 2nd round of the Shaunessy playoffs where they were defeated in four games.

The mighty Huskies were led by four all-league seniors. Cindy Benevides devastated opponents with her powerful spiking. Marlene Rosa and Amy Getz led the Huskies with their powerful blocking and Apryl Cortez earned her all-league position because of her strong serving. The Huskies were also boosted by very strong play by their younger starters as well as the bench.

The J.V. girls volleyball team also had a good year, winning 11 of their 14 matches. The Huskies should be able to look forward to a good varsity season next year.

WATER POLO

Shagging Around

The 1989 Washington Waterpolo team was once again very tough this year. The Huskies competed in the East Shore Athletic League because the MVAL does not yet recognize waterpolo as a sport. The Washington Waterpolo Club is the only MVAL team that plays polo.

Coach Don French led Washington through the season which was highlighted by a very physical 10-7 win over Encinal. In that game, Jim Hassett poured in six goals, Keith Jeffreys and Junior, Jason Koch fired in two each and goalie John Hammond blocked fifteen shots.

All-League honors went to Jim Hassett and Keith Jeffreys, along with Honorable Mention All-League to Jason Koch and John Hammond.

GYMNASTICS

Up And Over The Competition

Now was that a twirl, jump, flip or . . . , thinks gymnast Aimee Little.

The Washington H.S. gymnastics team this year has many attributes. The most important of these attributes being Spirit. The team could not have made it to the top without it, but it takes more than that to become Champions. Both the J.V. and the Varsity teams worked extremely hard and had a wonderful year that made Washington High School proud.

The team was outstanding!! All the girls tried their hardest and their determination got them to the finals. They worked their way to the top this season and they had a great time doing it. They had the drive which many teams lack, and practiced long, hard hours to become NUMBER ONE in the MVAL.

A Smashin' Season

Junior Heather Severson keeps her eyes and concentration on the ball, waiting for the chance to smash it.

Once again this year's Husky Varsity Tennis Team proved that they were a force to be reckoned with. With only four returning Varsity players, it was not foreseen that the team would have a very successful season.

Yet, with hardwork and determination, the Huskies were able to pull through. Junior Alison Sato took on the challenge and position placed on her after the leave of number one singles player Tiffany Winger, who moved to Idaho. Throughout the season the team looked to the doubles teams for the victories. These teams consisted of Senior Captains Judy Hu and Angela Tam, Juniors Heather Severson and Eunice Lin, along with Senior Melissa Frost and Junior Tanya Schvartzberg.

The JV team consisted of a combination of returning players along with many eager Freshmen. The team was led by an inspiring Freshman, Michelle Keller. There was a constant battle for the remaining three singles positions which consisted of Junior Krissey Greene, Junior Sonia Kimotsuki, and Sophomore Jennifer Olson.

With most of the Varsity and JV players returning for next year's team, look for the Huskies to be carrying on the winning tradition. GOOD JOB, HUSKIES!

FROSH BASKETBALL

Slammin'

Make a basket for two
Or we will say boo hoo.
We don't want the Frosh
To go through the wash.
If they try
We won't cry.
They're very, very tall
And their defense is like a wall.

The Freshman Basketball Team has come alive this year! The season looks like it will be very exciting for them. They work hard in practice which shows on the court. The fans love it when the team comes off the court with another win. The Freshman Team may have an advantage over their opponents since they are the tallest team in the league. They are optimistic too. "We should do quite well," predicted Danny Stovall. They are coached by Mike Kenny who has done a great job with all eleven boys.

In pre-season play the Freshman team has been undefeated. So far in the season they have had two wins — one over Logan and the other over Moreau. Hopefully, they will remain undefeated for the balance of their games. Win or lose, however, we are all right behind them.

J.V. Hoops

The Junior Varsity Basketball Team, coached by Mr. Rick Burnett, had an outstanding season. Even without a gym to play in, these faithful Huskies devoted many hours of hard and inconvenient practice to make them the great team they were.

During December, the Junior Varsity Squad captured first place in two tournaments. The team won the fourth annual Husky Classic with an exciting win over Monte Vista from Danville. Three weeks later, the Huskies won the Mt. Eden Tournament in Hayward.

The team was led by Scott Hess and Chuck Legan. Both players have the ability to move up and make a valuable contribution to the Varsity, next year. Good Luck in the coming years, by continuing our great winning Washington tradition. Super job Husky Junior Varsity!!!

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Hoops

The Washington High School varsity basketball squad showed tremendous poise this year by proving to everyone, that even though they didn't have a gym, they still have a team. The Huskies slammed, jammed, and dunked all over their competition with such great players as Shawn Hansen, Dante Bonaparte, Jimmy Stevenson, Aaron Schultz, and Eric Christianson hitting precise from the perimeter. The team was dedicated to winning especially at a game against Moreau, where the Mariners chanted, "We have a gym, yes we do. We have a gym, how about you?" The sailors stopped singing after Shawn Hansen nailed a last bucket to give the Huskies the win. The Huskies overcame many deficits to win in overtime, thus making them the comeback team of the year! Congratulations on a great season, Huskies!!

J.V. BASKETBALL

A Head's Up Season

To say that the 1989-90 Basketball Season was unusual would be an understatement. The Washington Huskies became the Washington "Nomads" after losing their gym to the "Quake of '89." The team's spirit was put to the test when they found themselves spending countless hours of long grueling bus rides to and from their games and practices.

Nevertheless, the Huskies proved that they had the will and determination to remain a strong force in their league. This year's Junior Varsity Girls' Basketball Team were led by co-captains Stephanie Shaffer and Andrea Aro, who were backed up with a nice blend of returning sophomores and new freshmen. Like many teams in the past, this year's squad was determined to continue the winning tradition at Washington even when many were doubtful.

We would like to applaud this year's JV Girl's Basketball Team for their gallant efforts to help keep basketball fever alive and well at Washington High School.

The Girls Varsity Basketball season started off with a great deal of enthusiasm. The Varsity returned four girls off of last years squad; Seniors Cindy Benevides, Apryl Cortez, Ellen Holkenbrink, and Junior Tanya Schwartzberg.

Within three weeks we had lost our gym and our home court advantage. But we took a deep breath and headed North to Chico for their first game of the year. As the season progressed the theme was "on the road again."

Leadership and inspiration have been shared by co-captains Apryl Cortez and Cindy Benevides. The Huskies are a young team with a major contributor coming from Freshman standout Michelle Keller. The inside game has been led by Junior surprise Iris Simpson averaging 17 rebounds a game in league play.

The Huskies are coached by Helen Paris, a 1972 graduate of Washington High School. "It's a dream come true to return to my alma mater.

"Mutt's"

Inexperience or just plain bad luck? Those are the two questions Head Coach Ed Arce asked himself about the Washington Varsity Soccer Team. Although the team sported but three seniors, there was no lack of talent in the younger players. "A few of our players were forced to play unfamiliar positions. Everyone did an exceptional job, which displays the versatility the team possessed", stated Coach Arce. The team had lots of talent and desire to win, so what seemed to be the problem? Unfortunately, the team could not uncover the solution throughout the first half of the season. The Huskies were once again plagued by ties and, unfortunately more losses than victories.

The Huskies however started the second half with a strong game against unbeaten Logan. The Huskies led the Colts 2 - 0 until the middle of the second half when Logan scored 3 unanswered goals. The Huskies were the lone team to score two goals against Logan during the first half of the season. the Huskies are very positive about their future.

Goal!!

It may not have been a year of great talent and skill, but there's more to the game of soccer than those two elements. Soccer is also a game of determination and hustle, not to mention a lot of heart. The 1990 Washington girls varsity soccer team combined all these factors to form one of the toughest, most competitive teams possible.

Under the great coaching of Odd Johansen, the Huskies pulled together their five new players along with the fourteen returning members from last years team, and with a new rearranged lineup, the Huskies turned out to be one of the top teams in the M.V.A.L. Forward Kelly Hale dropped back to sweeper, half-back Erin Todd moved into center full - back. This new lineup resulted in a tenacious defense, which in the first round of M.V.A.L. play, held it's opponents to only eight goals. Outside full-backs Christine Fern and Jackie Degroat also had good seasons, while goalie Erica Plath had an outstanding season, often saving what seemed to be an unstoppable shot.

Complimenting the Huskies defense was their offensive line that consisted of a few new, young players, along with many from last years team: Marlene Rosa, Jodi Miller, Kristin Clark, Meredith Pesek, Trinity Woods, Jeni Frazier, Jennifer Britto, Angela Burns, Lori Churma, Erin Gammon, Leslie Wilkerson, Heather Goodwin, Carrie Miller and Tanda Murdica. Although these players didn't have the many years together it takes to form a superb offense, they utilized the few months they did have to develop an attack that always managed to put in a few goals that would give them the winning edge.

All in all, the Huskies had a very successful season surprising everyone in the league. Even though the team will be losing it's six seniors they'll be hoping for a strong turnout next year in order to put together the best team possible. Good luck next year Huskies, and congratulations on a great 1990 season.

WRESTLING

Win, Pin, Or Die

The 1989-1990 Washington Wrestling Team has greatly improved this year. After going through last season with only one victory. the Huskies have already put together three consecutive wins this season, at the time this article was written. One of the highlights of this season was the victory against Moreau. The Huskies took the final three matches to defeat the Mariners 36-33. Seniors, Cory Clarke, Gil Frate, and Kevin Crooks, all won their matches as Coach Canada looked on.

It looks as if those dreary years of losses are behind as Coach Canada looks into a bright future as the Huskies begin to stomp their M.V.A.L. opponents.

BADMINTON

Just Slam It!

As you approach the South gym you hear racquets "smashing" and birds "flapping their wings". Who's making all those noises? Step in and you'll see. Badminton "season" is here.

Many people do not know what this sport is about. Badminton is a little bit similar to tennis only it's played indoor. The sport requires quick reflexes, persistency, and a lot of coordinations. It is a competitive sport for the more challenging players.

This year WHS badminton team has a disadvantage. The earthquake in October damaged the North gym where the four official courts are situated. The South gym provides three courts for the team but they can't be used for league games because the gym is carpeted, and the courts' dimensions aren't acceptable. However, even with this slight difficulty, the team is very willing and enthusiastic about playing. Besides there are many individuals who are NCS-bound.

"Badminton is fun and can be played anywhere if you really like the sport," commented a team member.

WHS badminton team has had some spotlights in the past few years. In 1988, the varsity team took NCS championship, a surprising twist for other schools who mocked the Huskies' ability. This win has boosted the morale of WHS badminton players.

GIRLS SWIMMING

Making Waves

Many people seem to think that swimming is an easy sport. However, being on the swim team requires a lot of energy and commitment. Swimming isn't a sport in which you have time during practice to stand around and talk. You are kept moving almost constantly with short intervals throughout the workout. When you finish a difficult set, you feel as if you are going to collapse.

After practice, everyone hopes that someone is selling candy. Food is a major priority at this time. You just want to go home and eat.

At a meet, everyone feels excited, nervous, or both. You get butterflies in your stomach and hope that you swim well. After warming up, some of the nervousness begins to disappear. You feel more confident and give yourself a pep talk before the first race.

The girls swim team works very hard and does a great job!

Aqua Pups

Picture yourself standing on a diving block at Ohlone College at the end of the season with people cheering and yelling your name. They all depend on you to do your best and outswim the other schools that are on either side of you. The pressure is tremendous as thoughts swirl through your head of past meets and swimming practices. All the excitement and stress of the season falls upon your shoulders now, at the end of the season. "Swimmers take your mark", rings through your head and the adrenalin begins to race through your body. BANG! The gun goes off and you hit the water with as much force as you can. Your hands slap the water and you kick with might as you watch opponents gain. In the background, people are still shouting and pushing you on. A feeling of pride comes over you when you reach the wall to turn and friends urge you to the end. Opponents still gain as you push your body to it's limit. Finally, you hit the wall with only one thought pounding through your head ... "What place?". Friends and fellow team members run to congratulate you, and a feeling of satisfaction overcomes you. You won.

BOYS TENNIS

Making A "Racket"

This year's tennis team was better than ever. The powerful team of Huskies included Seniors Pat Calara, who won the MVAL singles title, Jamie Santos, Tim Martens, Massy Ghausi, and a terrific doubles tandem of Mark Locher and Chang Nah.

The mainstay of the team was Coach Keith Kato. Coach Kato has been an excellent coach and inspiration at WHS for many years.

Big things were expected of the team, in which seven of the nine varsity players were seniors. The team finished in third place last year, so with five varsity players returning Coach Kato and the players themselves had high expectations.

The Huskies trained hard for the season running windsprints before practice and after. Practice was intense, the matches were nail-biters. In the end the Huskies showed what they were made of and had a great season.

MUST DO IT!

This year's Girls Varsity Track team looked very promising. We saw many new faces coming out giving their all. We also saw many of the runners from last year. Washington Sr. High also welcomes New Head coach Reyes and Coach Barton and Miss. Dewey.

Returning back to the team this year were Seniors Kelly Hale and Anjali Saraf; Juniors Brandy Glock, Eunice Lin, and Susy Stovall; and for the Soph. Katie Hadley and Belinda Williams.

BOYS TRACK

The Fast Lane

The Washington track team this year was quite a success, considering the circumstances. Besides the great Senior leadership of David Wakley, Brad Nelson, Ryan Keys, Joe Hedgecock, Gill Frate, Kelly Hale, Aaron Reed, and Kajsa Rehn; the juniors, sophomores, and even the freshmen played a key role to the success of this team. Almost every Senior this year qualified for NCS which is quite an accomplishment. First year Coach Ryes and Barton were very pleased and surprised with the mediocre record. Numerous medals were won in invitationals which included schools from all over Northern California. To conclude, Coach Reyes and Barton were happy with this years performances from the team. The Coaches are very optimistic about the future of Washington's Track team, considering that most of the track team is returning next year.

Ruf Puff

Immediately after we all returned from Christmas vacation you may have noticed the gathering of about 70 girls on the fields out behind Washington High School. It was, in fact, that time again for Powderpuff!

Sporting the shorts and tee shirts (and sweats and sweatshirts on cold days) the Junior and Senior girls returned to the field for a full five weeks of practice. Doing bear crawls and other agilities may not have been the thing we liked most about Powderpuff, but it proved to be worth it once the scrimmage and game were upon us. We did, however, have one injury per team this year (both in practice.) First off we had Gia Solari getting "tackled" by one of the Senior coaches and coming out of it with a hurt leg. Also, there was Junior Stacey Lowe who twisted her ankle less than a week before the game. Gia returned to play in the game; Stacey was unable to.

In the scrimmage, pressure was on and tempers were flying. This resulted in Senior Chrissy (Iron Mike) Rhiness and an unnamed Junior being taken out for unsportsmanlike conduct. The Seniors were penalized often in this practice game, but managed to defeat the Juniors 23-7. All the Seniors admitted that the Juniors played really well and the class of '90 should not use this as a prediction for the game. Both teams went back to practice hard for the remaining week before the game.

Finally Saturday, February 10, 1990 was upon us. With nerves going wild and butterflies in each players stomach, the two teams walked out onto the field. For the Juniors it was a new and amazing feeling; for the Seniors it was dejavu. Just one year earlier they emerged on the field with a new feeling, and left it with a victory over the Seniors of 1989. Many felt last years victory only caused more pressure, but they were ready to fight it head on.

The game started. This first half, to many, seemed to go by fast. At half time the score was still 0-0. Both teams went into their locker rooms quietly. At the beginning of the third quarter, both teams were determined to score; but when the hit zero seconds at the end of the fourth quarter the score was 6-0 . . . the class of 1990 was the (2 time) winner!

When you ask a Washington High School Rally Squad member what it takes to be a good cheerleader they'll probably say flexibility for stunts, splits, and flips; a strong, loud voice for yelling out cheers, and lots of time for practice and games ... but for a Powderpuff cheerleader it takes pure CRAZINESS!

Powderpuff cheerleaders typically borrow uniforms from our W.H.S. cheerleaders. They meet after school to put their talents to the test to come up with a wildly entertaining routine. It is then performed for the school at the Powderpuff rally on the Friday preceding the Saturday night game; and again for the audience at the Powderpuff game.

This years cheerleaders encountered one problem, (which they quickly solved,) ... it did not rain within the week before the game. So the squad went to TAK stadium during the day and hosed down the track, and in turn had MUD for the game!

Puppies' Pride

As a freshman, you become the new kids on campus. Sometimes you become the victim of cruel jokes and pranks which can be played by the upperclassmen. Yet being a husky and becoming involved in the excitement of high school life makes it all worthwhile.

This freshmen class has worked very hard to show W.H.S. what it's made of. Even though they are freshmen, they were able to come together and show the rest of the school that puppies can have spirit too.

Proud freshman huskies express why they think the class of 1993 is different from most freshmen classes:

NICOLE BODILY: "I think we have worked very well together to show our spirit, and to make this a very fun year."

VALERI STAEHLI: "Our freshman class has come together and worked hard to become spirited. This has helped us prepare for our next three years in high school."

MELISSA NORMAN: "The spirit this class has is what makes us different. Everyone is very friendly and kind."

ERINN STAHLER: "As a class officer, I think that we have a lot of spirit and enthusiasm for freshman."

"This year's freshman class has been very exciting. In the beginning of the year the freshmen were not very outgoing but as the year went on their involvement was tremendous. As spirit week came around they not only got a chance to show off their skills but they got a chance to show off their spirit. During the week, they dressed up and attended the skits. When the time came to put on their skit they pulled together as a class for the first time and although they didn't win, they had fun! Even though they were freshmen they weren't too embarrassed to get up and show that they had just as much spirit and a little more than most freshman classes! Most thought this years freshman class was one of the most spirited that Washington has ever seen!"

Officers Make Best Of Freshman Year

What do Amy Coutee, Arinn Stahler, Ann-Marie Beagles, and Valerie Staehli all have in common? Those young freshmen were each thrilled when they were announced the class officers.

"We want to make this the best Freshman year, and want to get all of the Freshmen involved in the activities," says Amy Coutee, the class President. The class of 1993 is very spirited and ambitious. Each of the officers is enthusiastic about the upcoming year and wants to make it the most memorable one possible.

These four officers want to represent their class with pride and hope to accomplish all of the goals that they have set for themselves.

Sophomore Life

This year's Sophomore class of Washington High School is a class of spirit, pride, and intelligence. Now that we are no longer the youngest at the school, we can grow and mature in many ways.

The step up from Freshman is a big one, though it may not look that way at a glance. We aren't the young, inexperienced huskies we used to be, but rather, Huskies that are preparing to be upper classmen, setting an example and a standard for the rest of the school. This wasn't the only difference in not being Freshman, however. Being a Sophomore gives us the opportunity to finish first in things like games at lunch, spirit week skits, or even academic awards.

Now that we are Sophomores we plan to leave last year behind us and plan for this and future years. Our goals we have set for ourselves are high ones, and I feel our class is great enough to accomplish them. So far this year we have more than accomplished our goals: first, by placing second in the spirit week competition, and second, by creating a Winter Ball that was not only fun to be a part of, but earned our class a lot of money.

We know the rest of the year will compare to the beginning. Our goal for the future includes making enough money this year on our fundraisers to make next years prom, or even our senior ball, a big success. In the process of earning money for our next two years at Washington, we are also having fun together as a class. With all the spirit and pride we Sophomores have, we aren't going to be an easy class to follow. The Sophomores are only going to get tougher as the years go by.

-Mat Severson
Sophomore Class President

Matt Severson is not the only one who takes pride in being a Sophomore. Others tell what they like about being a Sophomore:

WENDY GANT: Our class is very spirited. We pulled together to beat the juniors in spirit week.

KATIE ROSS: I like being a Sophomore because I'm not a Freshman anymore. You can't tease Sophomores as easily.

MIKE McOMBER: I like our class because it is so united.

JENNIFER OLSEN: Our class is very friendly.

KIM PETERSON: Our class is the best because we beat the juniors in spirit week. We are AWESOME!!

Section

Sophomores Unite!

As they were able to overcome the traumas of being freshmen, the sophomore class also has almost completed another full year of academics, sports, and leisure and are now on the road to becoming upper classmen. We have gratefully been supplied with a few words of wisdom from the sophomore class president, Matt Severson:

"The Sophomore class of Washington High School is on its way to being the best class ever. This year, in preparation to be upper classmen, we hope to raise funds for our junior prom, senior ball, and other class activities. As we raise the money for these activities, we are going to have fun, make friends, and work together as a team. Compared to last year, our school and class spirit has grown as the result of unity. This year is going to be great. We have all grown up together and it shows. By the time we're Seniors, we will have made substantial improvements in our class and in the school."

Costumes To Fit The Characters!

As each decade goes by, along with it goes the many different changes from fads to fashions. The era of the 50's brought to life poodle skirts, saddle shoes, and rolled jeans. Then the 60's rolled by with go-go boots, bell bottoms, and tie-dye shirts. Coming in with a boom the 70's boogied in with elevator shoes, large-collared shirts, and Farrah Fawcett hairdo's. The 80's made a smash as a new generation created more modernized varieties of changes. Just to name a few off the long list are guess jeans, high tops, and fluorescent clothing.

Now it is 1990, a fresh new decade, inviting in many wild and crazy fads to come. We have been able to discover the ideas of a few of Washington High School's sophomores as to what they think is in now plus their fashion predictions for the future.

I don't think anyone wears anything because of fashion. They either wear the first thing they can lay hands on in the morning, or something that is clean and comfortable. In the future, who knows . . . maybe we'll be wearing disposable underwear! Heck, anything can be fashion. — Pinki Prasad

For shoes, Nike Airs are in right now. For the future I think bell-bottoms will definitely make a come-back. — George Kralovansky

I think the sporty and traditional looks are in, but I think the clothes have to be comfortable. In the future, I think that fashion will be much more complicated. — Erinn Kearney

Fashion depends on what group you hang in. (Beaters: black, red, white, adidas/ Metal: black leather jackets, ripped jeans.) What you wear depends on who you are. — Adam Christensen

Junior Memories

Your junior year is often the toughest year in high school. Yet there are many things which can make it the very best.

September comes around and you are excited to finally be able to call yourself an upperclassman. Everyone is ready to plunge into the year and participate in the many activities and events that juniors get to do. The first day of school arrives and you are greeted by friendly and familiar faces. Because you are now a junior, you have the authority to harass the freshman as they hopelessly find their way to their homerooms. At the first assembly, you notice the increased amount of people chanting the phrase "CLASS OF 91" and realize that you finally possess real class spirit.

October finally comes and the much anticipated spirit week arrives. The class pulls together to put on an excellent skit and crazy dress up days. This is all done with the hopes that they will come out on top.

As the year continues, you participate in the fun and exciting activities that high school is made of. Fundraisers, dances, rallies, and sports; these are all the things which consume your time.

Besides the rain of February, the month also brings another junior highlight. Powderpuff: The powerful and intense attempt of the juniors to defeat the seniors in a muddy game of football. The girls practice their plays while the guys powder their faces and put on their cheerleading skirts for the big game. Regardless of the outcome of the game, the juniors come away with a feeling of satisfaction and unity, as their class came together once again for the funfilled event.

Soon, the sun comes out and the hills turn green. Spring is here and it is time for the juniors to begin thinking of the S.A.T.'s. Studying is a major part of a juniors schedule as they are desperately trying to pass chemistry and U.S. History.

April is consumed by the shopping and anticipation of the prom. Dates, dresses, and restaurants must be found to make that night a memorable one.

And finally June rolls around. Between the strenuous finals, the junior daydreams about their summer plans, and the picnics on the beach. But most importantly, they think back upon their junior year, and the memories which it created.

We Are Upperclassmen

Our Junior year - our toughest and our funnest. We finally get the hang of Washington. The class of '91' understands that you don't look foolish if you dress up and get involved in Spirit Week. We can now boast about being the one-hundredth graduating class of Washington High School. S.A.T.'s and Chemistry might cause us a bit of stress, but the vision of just one more year after this one makes us smile. Hopefully we can leave this year with great memories of Spirit Week, the Prom, and other activities. Hopefully we can leave an impression that we are the best Junior class yet, and the best Senior class to come!

Weekends

During the summer, weekends are like any other day, full of fun, spare time and vacations. The day school starts, however, the story changes. Weekends become a scarce and special event. We asked our 1989-90 Juniors what they do on their weekends away from school. Relaxing seems to be the top choice after a hard week hitting the books. The time away from the tests and quizzes is really appreciated. Hitting the beach also seems to be a great get-away where relaxing comes easy. Sometimes, however, there is a need for some students to just spend their time studying for that big exam on Monday. Well, with all good things, comes a little bad!

Husky Spirit

What is the Husky Spirit? The Husky Spirit is a mixture of pride, power, and courage that fills the Washington High School students at all times. It is the pride in our school and what it stands for. It is the pride we feel in ourselves and our fellow students. Power plays an important role in Husky Spirit because our power dominates all others. We have power and we show it in our sports and our academics and also in our power to succeed. Husky Spirit, however, is mostly based on courage. It is the courage to show our pride and our power to others that makes the Washington High School Husky Spirit number one!

Here, a group of spirited Juniors show an example of what school spirit is all about!

Being A Junior

When the Junior class was surveyed and asked what they enjoy most about being a Junior, one statement stood out. "Being an upperclassman" was the most popular answer given by those surveyed. What is there to enjoy about being an upperclassman? This brings us to our second most popular answer on our survey. "Responsibility is greater and there are more choices to make". Next year, the Juniors will be Seniors and they will have to make the decisions that the Seniors of 1989-90 have had to make regarding college and the future. The Juniors are anxious for that time and see that chance as a privilege. Our third most popular answer on the survey was simply, "Juniors are the best", and there's no doubt about it!

The Clock's Ticking

Time, while it's passing is leaving a pattern of shapes and of colors of magical days.

Its gifts are the memories
we save for our future
some vibrant and bright, others
shaded or grey,

As students of time in this grandfather school we've ventured into life, as it's called.

Strangers in passing became friendships joining . . .
a sweet, serene madness evolved.

Puppies tossed out to chance at time
such clever and curious pets.

Our senses awoke eager to perform
fresh for the challenge to test,

Independence at a distance
we learned from each other and time became a gentler rule.

Laughter grew easier
but pain also frequent we discovered maturity was just balancing the two.

Our circles were opened individuals came together time demonstrated its binding force.

With visions for our future supported by this past we've conquered a moment of our course.

A decade behind and a decade before as we wander through times open gate.

We'll always remember our Washington days chanting "The Class of Ninety Dominates!"

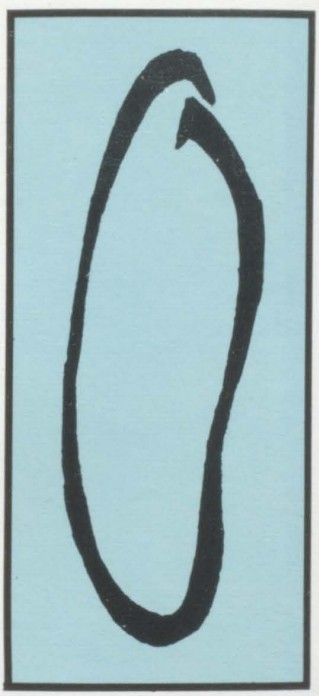
PRESIDENT: Jennifer Speed

VICE PRES: Debbie Chestnut



SECRETARY: Joe Hedgecock

WHY SHOULD WE BE SO MODEST? It's no big secret. Everybody knows that our class officers are the best! They are so great that we elected them two years in a row.

The ability of our four officers to work so well together gave us a great junior year, and an even better senior year. Jennifer, Debbie, Jenna and Joe are just one great gang, but they are great individuals, too.

Jennifer: she has to be one of the sweetest persons you could ever meet. Always ready to take your input and ideas and work them in with our class activities.
Debbie: She may be someone most of us look "Down upon" but she is someone we should really look up to for her dedication and determination to make our class great.
Jenna: Miss "Love Child" herself- to many people she seems very quiet and content, but in our senior skit we got to see the other side of her. (hey Jenna- is that what you're going to look like at our five year reunion?)
Joe: We will all remember forever the wacky campaign posters Joe hung around school at election time, but those weren't the only things that helped him win. Joe's just an all around great (and wacky) guy!

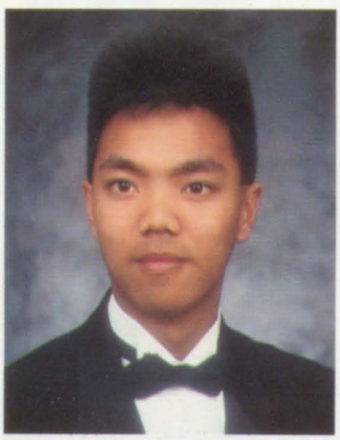
Our Sr. Year!



Dean Batara

That day in September that we thought would never come finally did. We set foot on the campus of Washington High School and were officially Seniors.

We Jumped into the Senior activities right away with a day at Raging Waters for our Senior picnic. Even with a few dark clouds hanging overhead, we made the best of it and enjoyed the slides and volleyball.

Next we encountered our greatest- and last- Spirit Week at W.H.S. Even with the earthquake shaking us up, we came out on top in the Spirit Week competition. (Seniors #1) We had some of the best dress up days we have ever had; especially army day- with a "platoon" of us marching to school in our fatigues.

There has been so much that has happened this year to make it a lasting memory for all of us. We'll never forget our weekend in Southern California for Senior fling, or our Senior Ball. there was also Senior Awards and Senior Favorites. And yes- now there is graduation! But before we go, we must say good-bye to all of the underclassmen, to the teachers and staff, and to our great Washington High School. Also, the class of 1990 would like to thank Mr. Ulrich and Mrs. Schreiber for all of their help, ideas, and great care they gave us! We love you all! We'll miss you all!

Well, that day in September that we thought would never come finally did- and passed. That day in June is upon us now!

Senior Changes

How have you changed since Freshman year?

Probably the best part about being a Senior is looking back on how much you've changed since your Freshman year, all the changes you've gone through from being a poor lost little Freshman to being a big, Macho Senior. Here's a few responses from some of our seniors.

"I haven't really changed. After all, these are the only clothes I've had since grade school." -Noel Tolentino

"Well, I usually change by taking off my shirt first, then my pants, and so on. I've pretty much been doing it that way ever since. HA! HA!" -Ryan Chilton

"I've realized that it's not how you dress, or who you hang around . . . but the important thing is who you are. People who judge people due to aspects other than who you are, aren't worth having as friends." -Bridget Elola

Memories

What one person will you always remember, and why?

During our four years in high school, seniors encounter many different interesting and memorable people, Everybody from that wacky teacher, crazy friend, or that someone special. The following are people these seniors will never forget.

Noel Tolentino: Mr. Zlatnik for flexing his rippling muscles to drive the girls wild.
Chrissy Rhines: My boyfriend Sancho who has stuck with me, even with my moodiness.
Maya Burghart: I'll always remember Mr. Bray because when I was freshmen, on the first day of school I had trouble getting a locker and he helped me out. He was warm, friendly, and smiling. He's been my buddy ever since.
Amy Roberson: Jeff Goyert, because he showed EVERYONE his sexy Mighty Mouse tattoo.
Lance Lubarsky: The one person I'll always remember would have to be Lisa Manrique, because she is someone who I will always care about.
Diane Chavez: Mr. Hoffman, for he pretended to hate Karen Hinkel and I the whole year, then the last day of school he gave Karen and I cookies, to his two favorite students.
Munzer Morror: Myself, because I am the best person and the only one worth remembering!!!

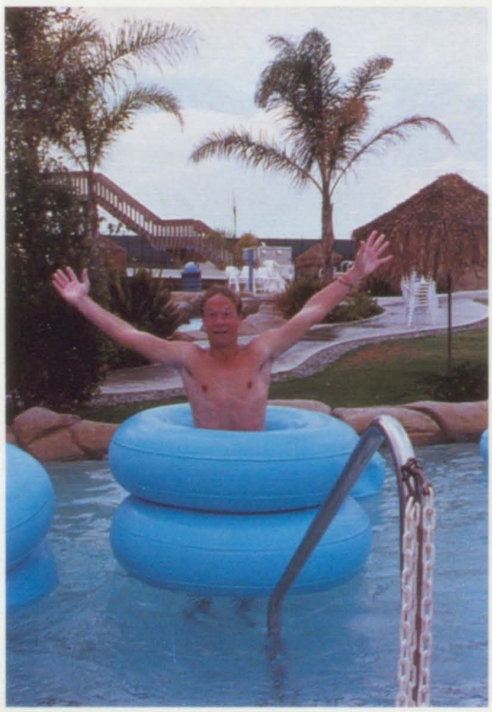
Senior Picnic

Splash

The day before our senior picnic was cold and rainy. Rumors began to spread around the school that our much anticipated day in the sun would be cancelled or that we would be watersliding under a dreary, gray sky. But, thankfully, the sun broke through, and upon our arrival at Raging Waters there was barely a cloud in the sky. We were able to have our day of fun in the sun, splishing and splashing down the waterslides, spiking and bumping on the volleyball courts, and for the more leisurely, sunbathing and chatting with friends. At the end of this great day, as we were herded back to our buses, some of us were sunburned to a crisp, others were just plain tired out while others were raring to go for more fun and excitement, but we all agreed that the senior picnic was definitely a day well spent!



Ooooo! What sexy love handles you have! Lance Soderman looking and acting goofy with the intertubes on the "Endless River."

"Humm de dumm," thinks Joel Means as his buddies, Paul Hippe and Joe Dujmovic, stuff their faces, literally, with their sandwiches.

Raging Waters

"WHOOOOOAAAAAAA!" exclaims Christine Lundgren as she plunges over the edge to the watery depths below.

Looking cool in the hot sun are Darcy Presley, Amy Coffman, Anna Jenno, Robyn Medaglia, Suzanne Martinez, Kimberly Martinez, Tina Shaw, and Melissa Lewis.

Now Doesn't Ana DeSousa look jolly floating down the "Endless River."

In The Past?

We have all stumbled and fallen on our face at one time in our lives. Yet have we ever had an embarrassing moment happen during our High School life. Imagine our freshman year, during swim class, diving into the pool and losing our trunks, ask Scott Legan how he felt. Paul Hippe experiences embarrassing moments every day when he walks into Mr. Woodwards room and is called Turkey Doo by the teacher he does so admire. One of the most embarrassing moments seem to be the act of walking into the wrong class. Ana de Sousa and Joe Abuan both experienced this during their freshman year. Everyone has dreamed of hitting a grandslam and running all four bases. Ellen Holkenbrink hit that grandslam but tripped and sprained her ankle while coming into home plate. Even once in awhile we do something wild and crazy and hope no one finds out. Too bad yearbook found out about the time Crysta Cripe ran around with Dianes underwear over her sweats with a hot dog inside them.

1990 Fever

What is the best thing about being a Senior? HMMM- there could be numerous different answers. After a student poll (passed to various Seniors), it was noticed that many students find it to be a "kick-back" year, however there are many other students trying to fit in one year of fine arts, or one more year of a foreign language, or trying to gain all the credits needed for graduation.

There are also some who feel this sense of closeness -a togetherness about the Senior class. Senior Chrissy Rhiness says that she noticed the unity among the class of 1990 during the Powderpuff season, Junior year, especially after the victory. Chrissy feels . . . "It was a victory for our whole class as one, not just each of us individually."

Still there are those who find graduation as the greatest Senior activity. It is something we will remember forever. It is a joyful day- that finally after all of these years we have reached the goal, the peak . . . the end!?! GRADUATION!!! Yet, in all the joy there will be a bit of sadness in parting from each other.

Sr. Shakin'!

When you look back upon our 1989-90 school year, what is one thing you will always remember? Will it be the day you forgot your P.E. clothes at home, that tragic test you took in Government, or what? Well, it quite possibly may be the great 7.1 earthquake that shook the Bay Area on Tuesday, October 17, 1989 at 5:04pm- and hey, Washington High School survived! Hitting us smack in the middle of Spirit Week (and the "Bay Bridge" World Series!), it gave us a conversation topic to talk about for weeks to come.

One of the most popular questions going around was, "Where were you when the earthquake hit?" . . . Well, where were you?

1. Jenna Hamrick- At a Senior Class prop party at Tina Enriquez's house.
2. Anna Jeno & Jen Radcliffe- Altering our polyester bell bottoms for our skit.
3. Becky Alves- In my house- trying to save rocking lamps.
4. Jamey Bell- At the thrift store- shopping.
5. Joe Hedgecock- At my house juggling anvils.
6. Ben Louie- Cypress Expressway, Oakland.
7. Ryan Keys- With Ben Louie on Cypress Expressway.
8. Mike Tostado- With Ben and Ryan on Cypress Expressway.
9. Duftan Sandoz- With Ben, Ryan, and Mike on Cypress Expressway.
10. James Wong- On 880.
11. John "Tex" Farr- Under my car.
12. Matt Velasquez- Miami, Florida.
13. Robert Toyofuko- In my house, trying to get out.
14. Rich Vargas- Playing my drums (I thought I was just playing unbelievably loud at first!)
15. Michell Viscuso- At candlestick Park, 20 minutes from seeing my first World Series game live.

"I pledge allegiance to the Senior class-We are the "BEST!" says Diane Chavez at a noon time rally during Spirit Week.

The Future

What's Your Fantasy For The Future

We've finally made it to our senior year!! We are at the top of the school and we love it. But as we enjoy the fun and challenges of being a senior, the shadow of the rapidly approaching future lurks over us. With that shadow comes that nerve-wracking question that EVERYONE seems to be asking, "So, What are you going to do with the rest of your life?" The response to this question is usually an exasperated, "I dunno!!!!!" Well, the following seniors know what they're going to do with the rest of their lives, or more accurately they know what their fantasy for the future is.

Mohammed Ehsan: To outbid Donald Trump.
Brad Nelson: It has to do with Swedish women and Jello.
Denise Riblett: To own a great, huge, and popular gym.
Jennifer Douglass: to have a globally and ecologically conscious world, with people free to love each other and themselves.
Marcus Edell: To become a successful drag racer for Ford.
Jennifer Speed: to dwell in a Jamaican love shack with the man of my dreams, Joe Hedgecock.
Aaron Reed: To re-instate break-dancing as the hip and happen' thing to do or clean house for Jen and Joe in Jamaica.
Ryan Keys: To be the President of the United States.
Karen Hinkel: To have millions of kids, money, a great husband, seven cats, three dogs, and a cow.

"How about us for cutest couple" ask Marlene Rosa and Amy Getz. The two girls spent the day together at the Senior Picnic.

A Decade Away

As the year draws to an end, seniors begin thinking more of their friends. Who will they miss, remember, and remain friends with? When the class reunion rolls around will your high school buddy be just another acquaintance or a life long friend? What will they be doing? What will you be doing? Friends are an important part of our high school years. Here is what some seniors see their friends doing ten years from now:

Oscar Barroso: I see Shawn Hansen as a Chipendales dancer and Warren Phelps teaming up with Cher to sing her next single Lance Soderman: I see Ryan Chilton becoming crazy George at major league baseball games.
Scot Legan: I see Aaron Reed becoming a brain surgeon.
Paul Hippie: I see Zach Fletcher driving around in his moms Regal with fancy rims.
Gemma Amboy: Noel Tolentino will be a dictator of some unknown country.
Jill Engelstad: Karen Hinkel will be a housewife with ten kids and a cow.
Stacie Adams: I see Diane Chavez driving around the beach and talking to bums.
Kristen Anderly: I see Debbie Chestnut married to one of the "New Kids." Jenna Hamrick Will be counting seeds in her fathers lab.
Amy Getz: I see Chrissy Dobbels in a mental institution to cure her fear of toilets. Lance Lubarsky and Lisa Manrique will be married and own 20 Volkswagon cars.
Jeff Goyert: Munzer Morrar will be a used car salesman.
Joel Means: I see Mike Hentrich becoming president of some company by coniving his way in.

Senior Auction

Sold!!!!

"Geez, these books sure are heavy! Carry them for me."

"Sure, whatever you say."

"You know, something about your outfit just isn't right. Let's just roll that pant leg up to your knee and . . . ummm . . . roll that sock down. Something's still missing, oh, I know! Why don't you put on this dashing puke, green, patchwork jacket with lapels out to your shoulders!! Beautiful, just beautiful, you look so-o chic."

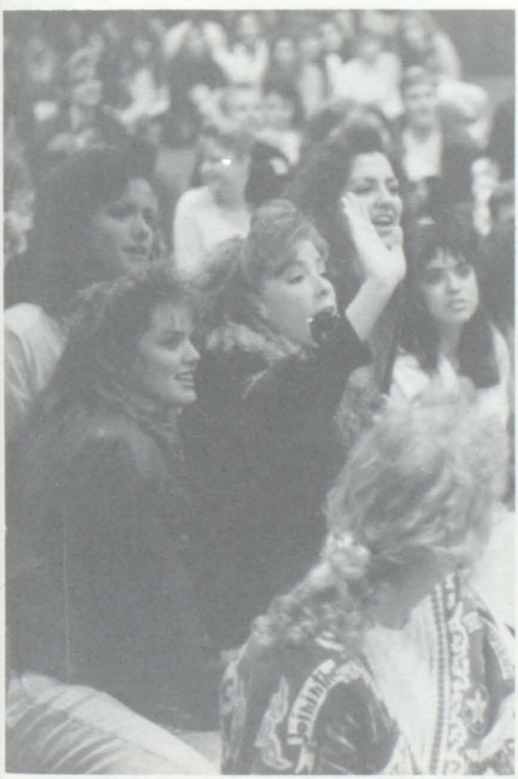
"Hey, you look like you're just dying to get some exercise. Drop and do 15 pushups."

"Oh, come on . . ."

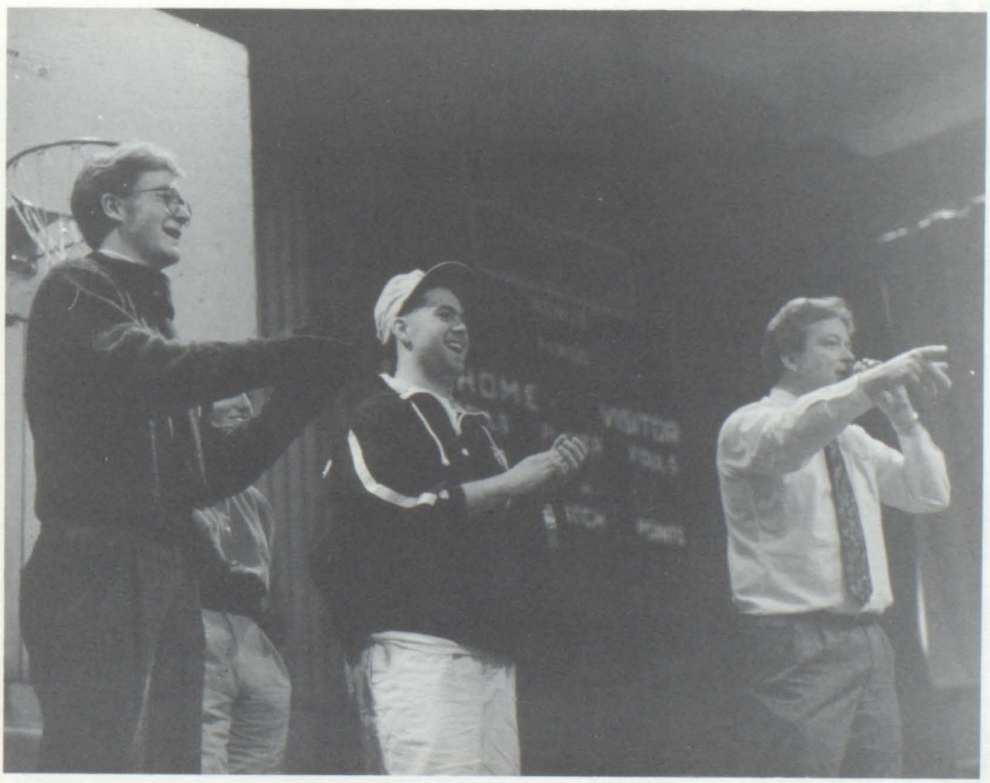
"Pronto, I don't want to hear any whining. Must I remind you that I paid good money for you!"

"ARGH!!!!"

Why are these poor people subjecting themselves to this "abuse"? It's because they were brave enough to put themselves up for sell in the Senior Auction. A lunchtime, fundraising activity at which seniors were auctioned off to classmates and friends, to serve them for a day.



"He is MINE!" yells Senior, Sarah Rasmassen as she places her bid.



"Hundred dollars, do I hear a hundred dollars?" Mr. Kramer, our great auctioneer, leading the bidding as Lance Soderman and Warren Phelps cheer the bidders on.

EARLY MORNING FUN

What a great deal the Senior Breakfast is . . . you get to miss two periods of school, eat a complete breakfast for a change, and discover who was voted the senior Favorites. The location for this event was the Newark Pavilion. Thanks to the brave souls who were courageous enough to arrive at the Pavilion at the very scary, very early hour of five in the morning, the Pavilion was nicely decorated in pink, teal, and white. So when the rest of the senior class arrived at 7:30 the Pavilion was adorned with streamers and balloons and on each table was a bouquet of flowers.

There was also a wide variety of food for the seniors to choose from. Everything from bagels to cinnamon rolls and fresh fruit. And there was plenty of food to satisfy all those hungry seniors.

Besides the great decorations and food, the Senior Breakfast marked the debut of the first annual Senior Slide Show. In the slide show, to the cheers of the seniors, we saw slides of spirited seniors during Spirit Week, wet seniors at the Senior Picnic, and seniors hamming it up for the camera around campus.

But the highlight of the morning, what finally got those sleepy seniors awake, was the awarding of the senior favorites by the announcers Diane Chavez and Joe Hedgecock. The awards given to the favorites were not the usual, run-of-the-mill gag gifts, but wacky, gold trophies. Each trophy symbolized what category the senior favorite won.

The senior class officers wish to thank all those dedicated mothers, students, and all others whose efforts helped make the Senior Breakfast a success. Thanks to them the Senior Breakfast was fun, delicious, and most importantly enjoyed by all!

Oh Scott, you are definitely GQ material! Senior Scott Legan posing for the camera.

"And the winner is . . ." MC's Diane Chavez and Joe Hedgecock announcing the lucky winners of the Senior Favorites.

BREAKFAST

Now don't seniors Amy Getz and Lisa Manrique look like they are having an absolutely wonderful time at the Senior Breakfast?

What the heck? Debbie Chestnut just can not get enough of that apple! Open wide, Debbie!

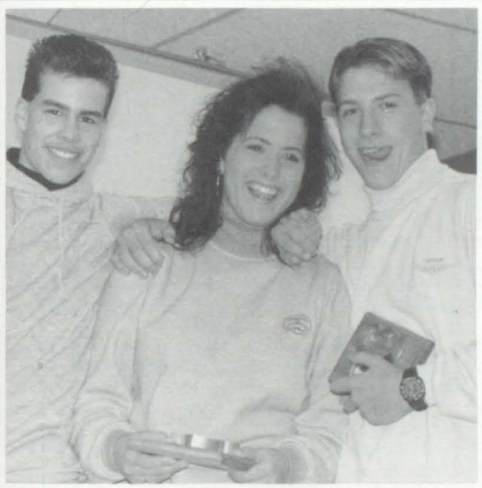
Best Dressed: Jodi Miller & Cory Clark



Biggest Flirts: James Maes, Nikki Williams, & Craig Hall

Every year the senior class votes on their "Favorite" people. There are eighteen categories and ballots are passed around to all of the seniors third period classes. Categories range from Most Likely to Succeed to Cutest Smile. The winners are announced every year at the Senior Breakfast. Awards are given to each individual. This year our senior class officers decided to be a little "creative" with them. All of the awards had an item representing the category which it was to be given that was bronzed (with gold paint of course).

Senior favorites were chosen well this year. Congratulations Seniors!!!

Most Artistic: Tina Burns & Vineet Soni

Cutest Couple: Denise Riblet & Robert Riley

Most Changed Since Freshman Year: Matt Nicholas & Tracey Hentrich

September

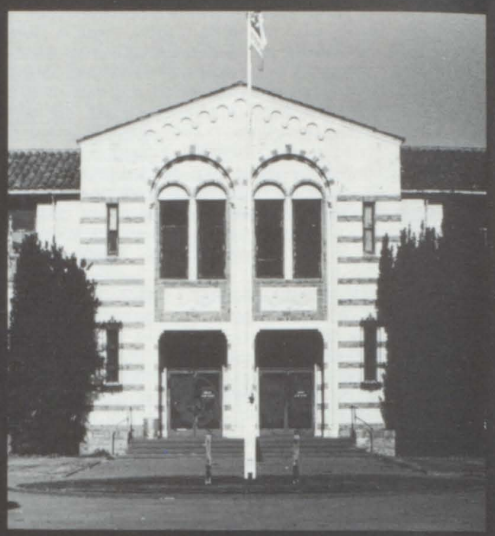
When we get back to school its back to teachers, books, and homework. The students get away from the typical classroom bustle by supporting the football team at their Friday games. Varsity victoriously came away with a wonderful season while Junior varsity lost only one game! Can't wait to see them next fall.

October

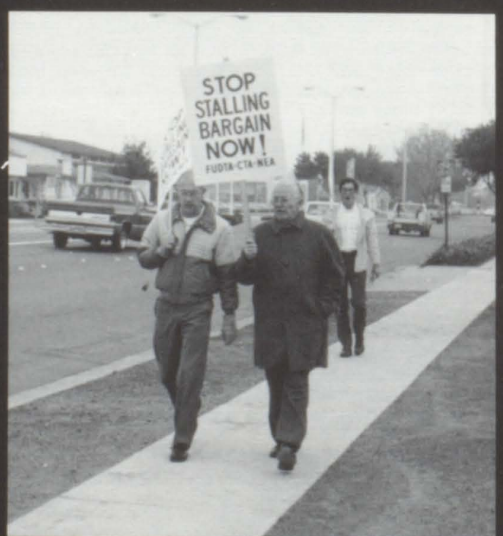
Spirit Week. It's more than just Halloween for a week, it's the highlight of the year. Some of Washington's favorite dress up days are Nerd Day, Army Day, and Opposite Sex Day. All of that is just prepping everyone for the big Homecoming Game. Everyone anxiously waits for the winner of Spirit Week to be announced.

November

Lots of things happened in 1989 but no one will forget October 17 when a 7.1 earthquake hit the Bay Area. Soon after, the District put a fence around our Old Building instead of doing something about the damage. They even closed our North Gym and our basketball teams had to find other facilities to practice.



the final



February

Every February is the month of the annual Powderpuff Football game. The Junior and Senior girls always take this game seriously as well as having lots of fun at the same time. The halftime show put on by the male Cheerleaders is certainly the funniest thing you'll ever see. This year's Seniors came away with another victory, being the only team that was undefeated!

March

Fremont teachers were working without a contract since the last school year. For months they were negotiating with the District for salary increases and retirement benefits. When the District refused to make any compromises, the teachers took to the picketlines to make stronger statement.

April

"April showers brings May flowers" That's what some people say but we had lots of sunshine, great weather for picnics at lunch with friends. There are usually lunchtime activities for students to participate in. It puts more life into lunchtime rather than just eating your peanut butter and jelly sandwich.

December

When you think of December, the Winter Ball and Winter Break may be the first thing that comes to mind, but the activity that is always favored is the annual Door Decorating Contest. All the third periods really get into the spirit and everyone is involved with the decorating. We get some very original designs.

January

January is the start of a new year. This time it was a start of a new decade, the 90's! When the New Year parties end the studying begins. The end of the semester means FINALS! No one likes to study, let alone study during lunchtime but it happens. The library is full of nervous students who are cramming a half year worth of lessons in a few days.

COMING SOON

take two spring supplement

May

Dresses, tuxedos, limos, and corsages are the only things on Juniors and Seniors minds as Prom time draws near. The Junior Prom is traditionally in the North Gym but this year it was held at Choices due to the closing of the gym. The Senior Ball was held at His Lordships overlooking the Bay. All Proms are unforgettable no matter where it is.

June

After four years of hard work and studying, the reward is GRADUATION! This is the moment we're all waiting for. Not only does it mark the success of high school, but also moving on to the future. It's a sad yet joyous occasion. CONGRATULATIONS CLASS OF 90!
